...we pause for Academics...

ABOVE and BELOW — Dr. Addis supervises the Citizens Advisory Board, which replaced the P.T.A. at Southeast three years ago.

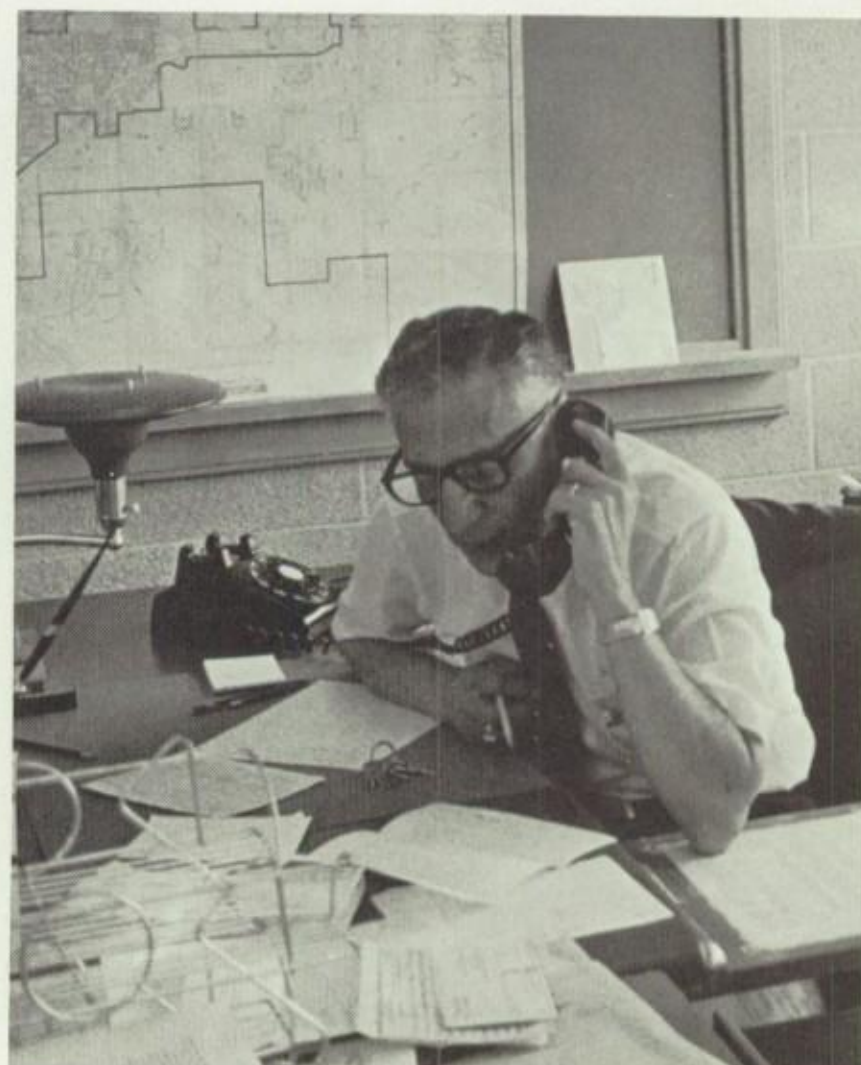

Addis coordinates school activities

Creating an atmosphere in which teachers and students could work, supervising and coordinating activities of faculty and other school personnel, and in general being a "leader in curriculum" was the main job of Dr. Fred G. Addis, principal.

Dr. Addis, who has been the principal at Southeast since it opened, feels that the twelve years he has been here the problems of students haven't varied much. However, he believes that students today are more involved and on a whole display more wisdom. "To assume responsibility for his own acts," and to become a responsible citizen in society are two things Dr. Addis feels are important for a high school student to have learned upon graduation.

Dr. Addis has received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Wichita State University and his doctorate from the University of Colorado in Boulder. Raising dogs for show is one of his main interests, as he owns four poodles and six Yorkshire terriers, one of which is a champion.

During the summer, Dr. Addis worked in a temporary office in a classroom because of construction.

co-administrators help lead school

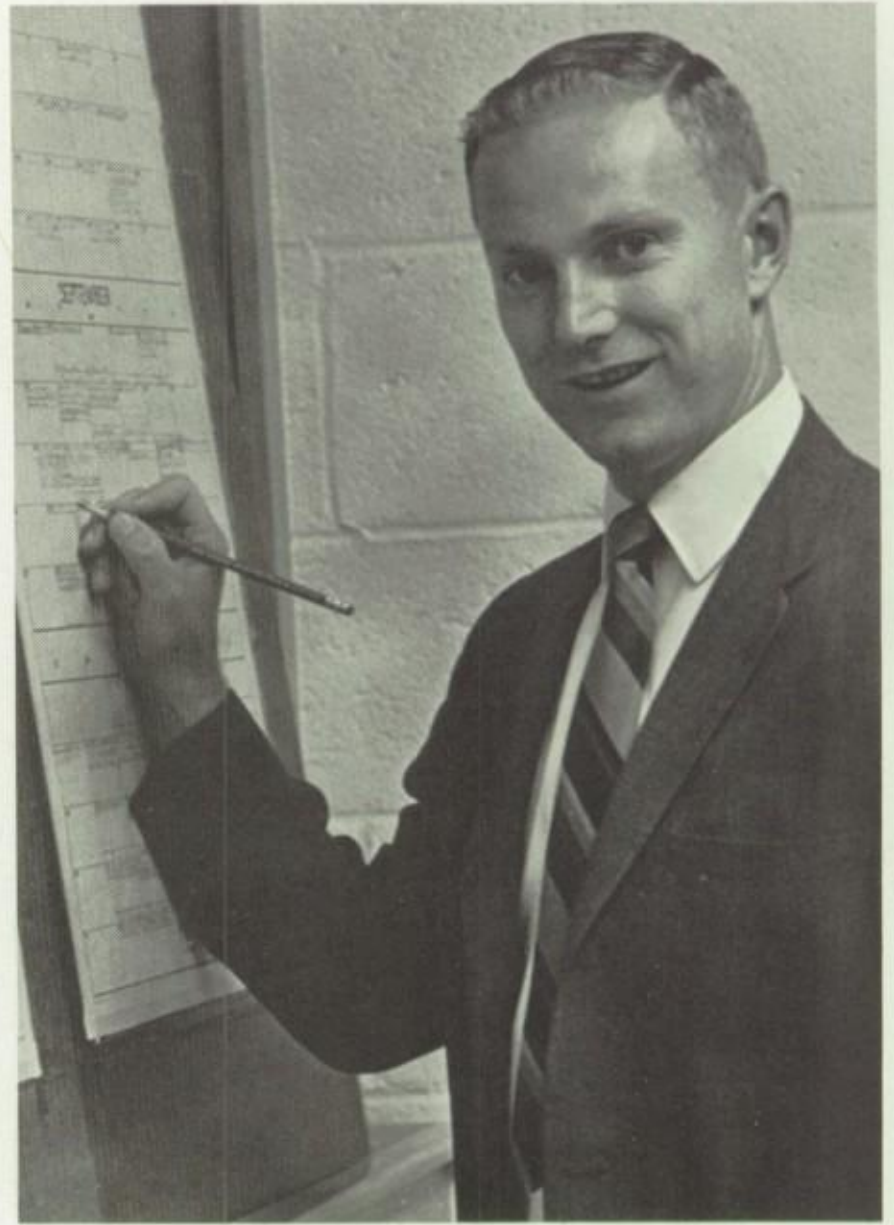

Mr. Keith Graham and Mr. Leon Cannady shared administrative duties as co-assistant principals this year. Mr. Graham has been an administrator at Southeast for two years and assumed the duties of Mr. O. J. Budd, now principal at Curtis Junior High.

Mr. Graham stated that he is responsible for "all duties delegated by the principal." Other responsibilities included working with student enrollment, handling discipline problems, and helping to organize bus transportation.

Mr. Graham received his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Pittsburg State College and at Colorado State College, respectively.

Mr. Cannady was a new member to Southeast's administration this year, as he had previously been the assistant principal at Roosevelt Junior High. Scheduling school activities and making up the activities calendar was Mr. Cannady's main job. He was also involved in the planning for assemblies, handling discipline problems, enforcing school policies, and reading the morning bulletin daily.

Mr. Cannady received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Colorado State College.

BELOW — Mr. Keith Graham.

Mr. Leon Cannady and Mr. Dave Leach counsel with students as well as disciplining them.

office staff keeps southeast operating

With a school as large as Southeast, there was easily enough work to employ eight office staff workers.

As Dr. Addis' secretary, Mrs. Rita Reiser ordered supplies for the school and compiled the yearly budget. Working at the switchboard and handling correspondence work for the counselors and administration kept Mrs. Rosalie Schreffler busy. Miss Debby Davis, an East High School senior, worked in the office this year during the afternoon.

Calculating grade point averages for approximately 2400 students and evaluating their transcripts occupied most of Mrs. Vera Ridgway's time. Mrs. Nadine Rogers handled the enrollment of all new students and the Pupil Data Processing. Besides sending transcripts to the colleges, Miss Jane Wilke handled the general bookkeeping, and was responsible for receiving money and paying bills.

Checking out students for appointments and recording absences and tardies was the job of Mrs. Gean Herd. Mrs. Margaret Walters, Registered Nurse, took care of emergency cases, assisted at dental check-ups, and counseled students.

expansion requires transition library

As construction on the new library continued through the 1968-69 year, cramped spaces and overcrowded book shelves marked a temporary library in the former wrestling room.

The new library will include a separate room for the audio-visual equipment with Mrs. Ada Clifton as secretary. Mrs. Virginia Fields, head librarian, said of the new library, "Modern equipment will be used throughout the library such as micro-film readers, copy machine, and modern audio-visual equipment".

Besides being air-conditioned and carpeted, there will also be a mezzanine which will feature art prints created by both Southeast students and famous artists. A "typing nook" with six typewriters for student use will also be included on the mezzanine. Within the next five years, a capacity of 24,000 books now available.

The librarian secretary was Mrs. Helen Jewett and the new assistant librarian was Mrs. Ruth Percy, who worked with Mrs. Mary Wing, the other assistant librarian.

counselors advise students' choices

The Guidance Center was enlarged this year as it included a conference and testing room, a new office and a room which was used for student tutoring. An additional counselor was also added to the guidance staff, which brought the number of counselors to five.

Mr. Corwin Bare, head of the department, was concerned with the problems of students choosing a college or a vocation. Counseling the class of 1969 since it entered Southeast as sophomores, Mr. Richard Elving was now concerned with the problems of seniors.

Mrs. June Turner was the counselor for juniors with last names beginning with A through N. The new counselor at Southeast this year was Mr. Kenneth Clark, a former Social Studies teacher at Robinson Junior High School. He worked with sophomores and juniors whose last names begin with O through Z. Miss Fanny Thompson counseled the sophomores whose last names begin with the letters A through N.

ABOVE — LOWER, Mr. Kenneth Clark and Miss Fanny Thompson.

The outer room of the Guidance Center is a familiar scene to many Southeast students.

Mr. E. Thayne Tolle attended a Music Literature Symposium, sponsored by the National Defense Education Act, at Kansas University for eight weeks last summer. The twenty-five adults from eight Midwestern states involved in the symposium sought more effective ways to teach music literature at the high school level. Mr. Tolle is also state chairman of the Kansas Chapter of Young Audiences, a national organization which presents about 200 informal "audience participation" concerts by professional music ensembles to fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

Mrs. Marguerite Grandy, Miss Sharon Thompson, and Mr. John Morton attended the Fordham West Coast Film Conference at Los Angeles August 12-16. Preparing for the new film study course included in five English IV classes this year, they watched and discussed many films and attended lectures. The new course was begun to develop awareness in film-viewing, because the average student has spent 15,000 hours in film-viewing, and only 10,800 hours in school, by the time he graduates, according to Mrs. Thompson.

For the second consecutive year, Mrs. Helen Hageman, French teacher, supervised a student trip to Europe in the summer. The three students from Southeast who went were seniors Linda Cale, JoAnne Moser, and Bob Frensley. Traveling seven weeks, they went to Rome, Geneva, and various parts of France. The purpose of the trip, according to Mrs. Hageman, was "to acquaint the students with another culture". In the picture, to the right, Mrs. Hageman, the second person from the left, is standing between Dr. and Mrs. Le Francois, the mayor of Villard de Lans, France. JoAnne is the fifth person from the left, and Linda and Bob are standing on the far right end.

LEFT, "Ain't you gonna haul no wood to Augusta?" is Miss Ruth McCormick's opening line to Mr. Arnold Stang in the production of "Tobacco Road". During the past summer, Miss McCormick, drama teacher, performed in summer stock at the Houghton Lake Playhouse, in Houghton Lake, Michigan. This is the fourth year she has performed with this company and this year in her performance of "Tobacco Road", Miss McCormick portrayed a hillbilly in Georgia. Miss McCormick also performed in "Black Spirit" during her stay at Houghton Lake. Besides acting in summer stock, Miss McCormick has performed with the Wichita Community Theater. Her last performance with this group was January, 1968, where she portrayed the mother, Mrs. Banks, in "Barefoot in the Park".

ABOVE, Mr. Neil Miller, Advanced Placement Chemistry teacher, instructs students concerning their lab write-ups and experiments. Mr. Miller attended the National Science Foundation Institute for A.P. Chemistry Teachers during the past summer at Hope College in Holland, Michigan. In the program, which lasted for eight weeks, teachers from 35 states exchanged ideas on teaching A.P. Chemistry. Each week, a nationally known speaker talked to the teachers on one phase of chemistry. BELOW, Mrs. Jerri Hummel, social studies teacher, performed with the Southeast orchestra October 17. Mrs. Hummel played a solo in the Telemann Concerto for viola. Having played the viola since the age of fifteen, she has studied with Walter Trampler in New York and has also studied Chamber Music with the Julliard String Quartet and Fine Arts Quartet. Mrs. Hummel performs with the Wichita Symphony.

film study offered to english classes

The English Department was enlarged this year by new rooms, new faculty members, and a new unit of study taught in five English IV classes.

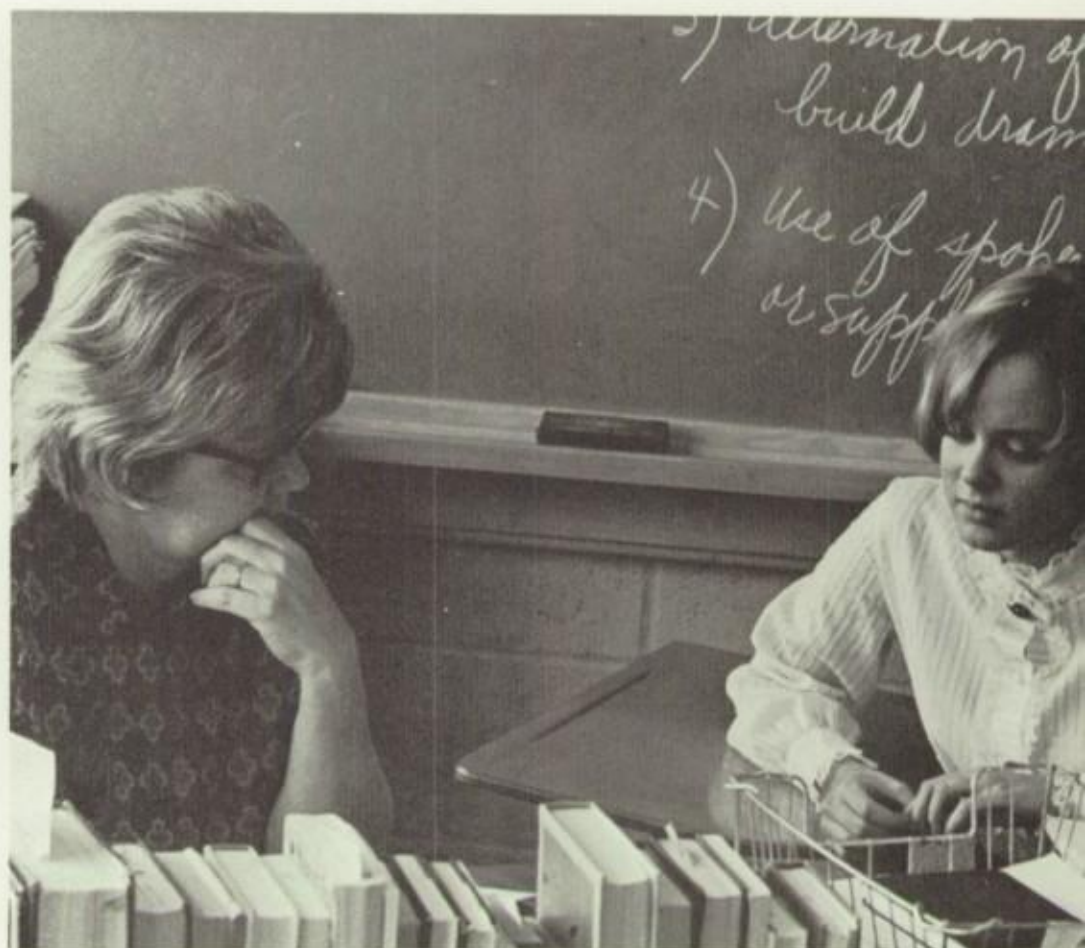

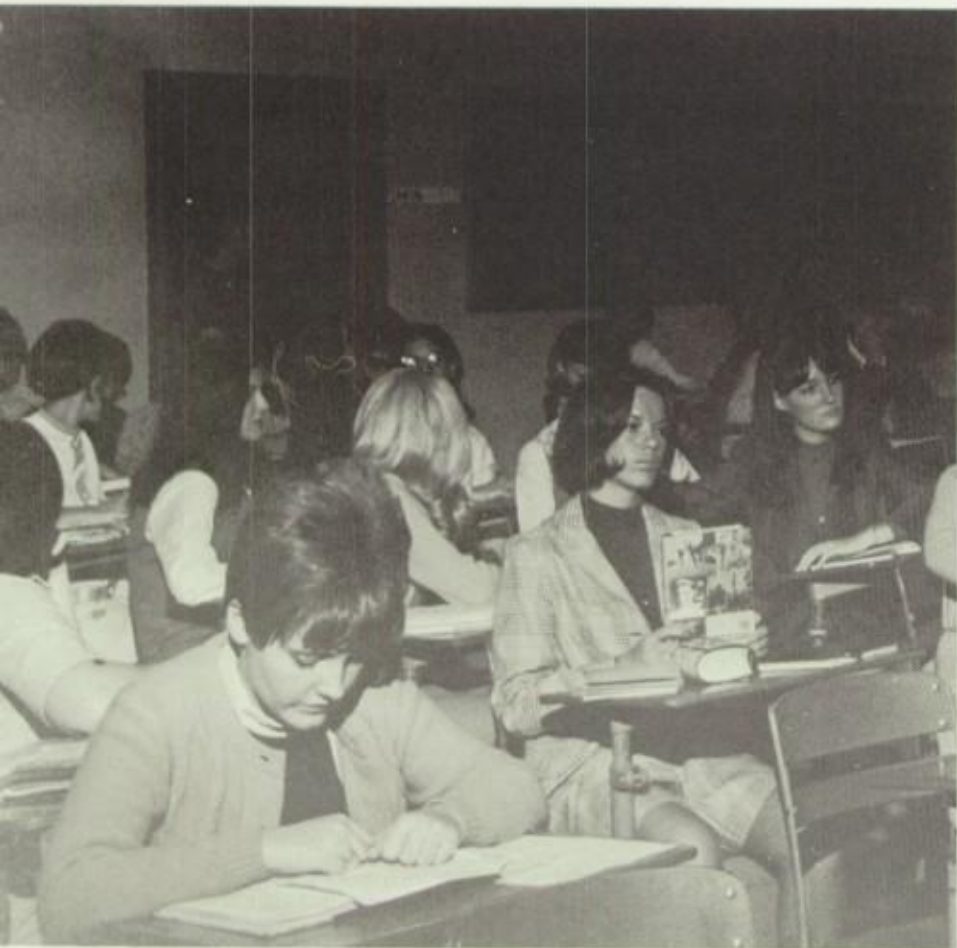

Eight new rooms were added to the department, and the new faculty members included Mrs. Marsha Gladhart, Mr. Robert Williams, and Mrs. Leona Bare. Mrs. Mary Chambers also taught one class of sophomore English this year.

Film Study was a new unit of study offered to five English IV classes, taught by Mrs. Marguerite Grandy, Mrs. Sharon Thompson, and Mr. John Morton. According to Mrs. Grandy, the purpose of the film study was to help give the students an understanding of such things as filmmaking, camera technique, and coordinating sound with visual image.

Courses included in the department were College Reading, English Composition, English Literature, Journalism I and II, and A. P. English. English II, III, and IV were offered on the basic and honor levels, and English was taught in the E.M.H. classes by Mrs. Wilma Stanton.

The Reading Laboratory provides students a chance to improve their reading time and comprehension.

English IV classes participate in the Film Study Unit, which was taught for the first time at Southeast.

Editor Linda Crandell and Mrs. Marguerite Grandy, adviser, work on "Kaleidoscope", a literary magazine put out annually by the Southeast students.

fine arts presents musical performance

Presenting the musical production "South Pacific" were the combined efforts of the Fine Arts Department. Mr. Don Weddle's advanced art class worked on stage scenery and sets, while Miss Ruth McCormick's and Mr. Vernon Nicholson's students provided the actors. Under the direction of Mr. Thayne Tolle, the pit orchestra provided the music for various scenes and songs.

Other productions were presented by the Drama Department, including the Junior play, Senior play, and Spoonriver Anthology. According to Miss McCormick, drama teacher, the objectives of drama were to give the students a "great deal of self-confidence" and give them an idea of what producing a play was like.

Other art courses, in addition to the advanced arts class, included Drawing and Painting, Commercial Design, Sculpture, and Introduction to Art. Mrs. Sue Harms was a new teacher this year, replacing Mrs. Jean Price.

"Choralesque" and various other productions, including student assemblies, were presented by the vocal and instrumental groups. Various ensembles were formed within both groups, and in the spring, these ensembles performed at district and state music festivals. Instrumental ensembles included a woodwind quintet, string quartet, and a brass choir.

Students in the advanced arts class help construct and assist in the designing of the stage scenery for "South Pacific".

Learning the structure of the language, gaining a better understanding of the people who either speak or once spoke the language, and learning the language well enough to understand and speak it are the main objectives of any foreign language, according to Miss Dorothy Reynolds, department head.

During the Easter vacation, several students and teachers gained a better understanding of foreign culture as they toured various parts of Europe. Students interested in the French culture saw Paris and London. Students interested in the Latin language and past Roman civilizations visited Rome and Sorriento, and those wishing to learn more about Spanish development traveled to Madrid.

Foreign languages offered were two years of German, four years of French and Latin, and five years of Spanish. For the first year, Spanish V was offered to students and was included in the Spanish IV class. Five rooms in "A" wing and a Language Lab were added to the department. New faculty members included Miss Connie Aitken, Mrs. Lucille Radar, and Mr. Marlin Schrag. Miss Aitken taught French, and Mr. Schrag taught German. Mrs. Radar taught two hours of German and three hours of biology.

elections intensify students' interest

As the national, state, and local elections were a major issue, several social studies classes took an active interest in various candidates and their views. Speakers running for various offices were invited to make appearances before the students, answer questions pertaining to various issues, and relate their own views. Government classes also participated in a "Vote of Behavior" project in which they studied election results and analyzed why people vote in the way they do.

According to Mr. Mel Schroeder, department head, the aims of the Social Studies department were "to help the student become more aware of himself as a member of society", and to "reveal to the student his own unique place in time and space as a multi-dimensional creature". Mr. Jon Hunsberger and Mr. Duane Sword were new faculty members in the department this year.

modern typing room added to department

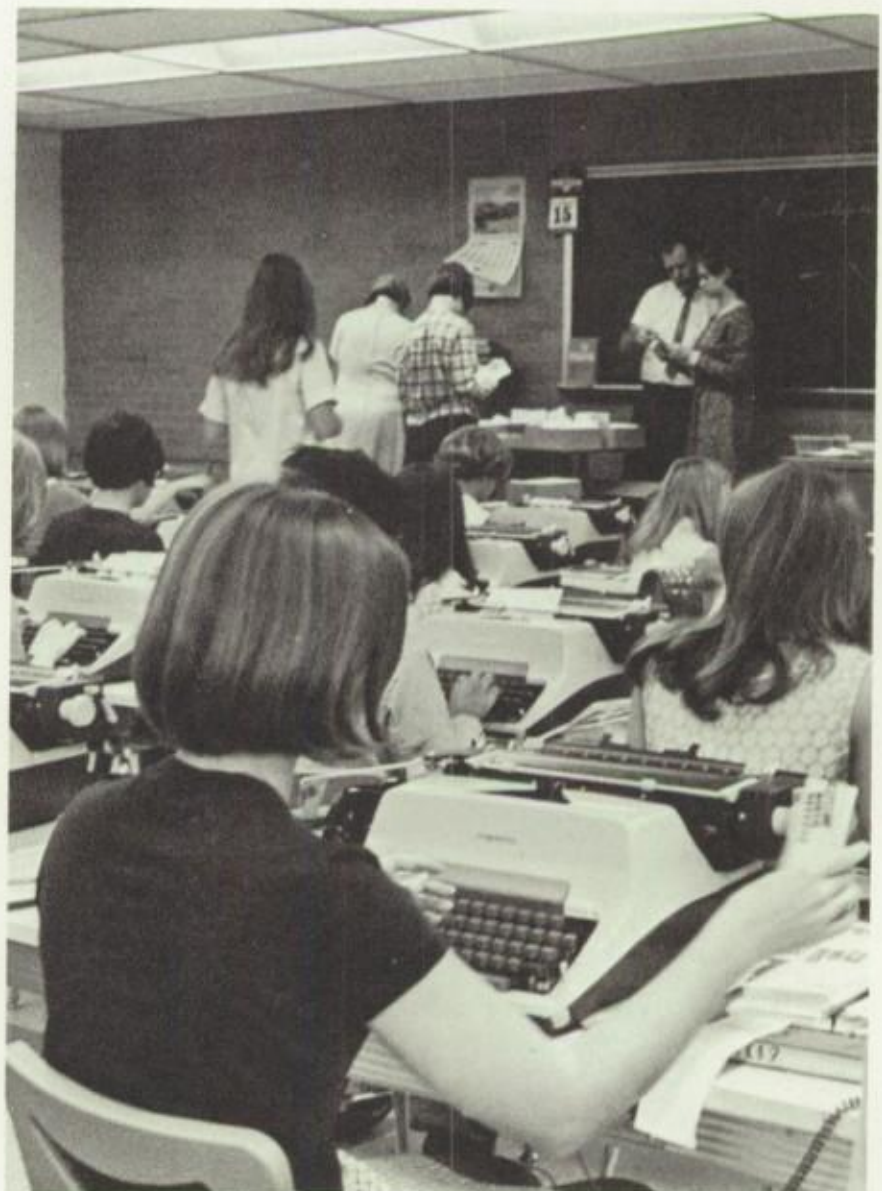

Sixty three typewriters, headphones, and three tape discs and a record player made up the new typing room in "B" wing. Assignments and lessons were recorded over the equipment, and students, with the use of headphones, could "tune in" to their assignments. Usually the same assignment was recorded on all three tapes at different speeds, in order that students could advance in their skills according to their abilities.

In Typing I, the main objectives were to teach the students how to operate the machines accurately and rapidly; so that the knowledge gained would be of personal value. According to Mr. Birl Peterson, the aims of the advanced typing class were to develop previous typing skills and "to turn out vocationally competent people".

Other courses in the business department included accounting, salesmanship, shorthand, business law, secretarial training, clerical training, business communications, notehand, bookkeeping, introduction to business, and business arithmetic.

In order that students could gain knowledge in a particular course, various field trips were taken during the year. In Secretarial Training, several students participated in Visitation Day, in which they spent one day in an office atmosphere. Attending court cases on the city, state, and federal level were students in the business law classes.

Taking advantage of the new typing equipment are the members of Mr. Birl Peterson's class.

advanced chemistry offered to pupils

Learning laboratory techniques, gaining information in various fields of science, and acquiring an appreciation in relating science areas were the chief goals of the science department. Courses in this field were Astronomy, Aeronautics, Biology, Chemistry, A.P. Chemistry, Geology, Physiology, and Physics.

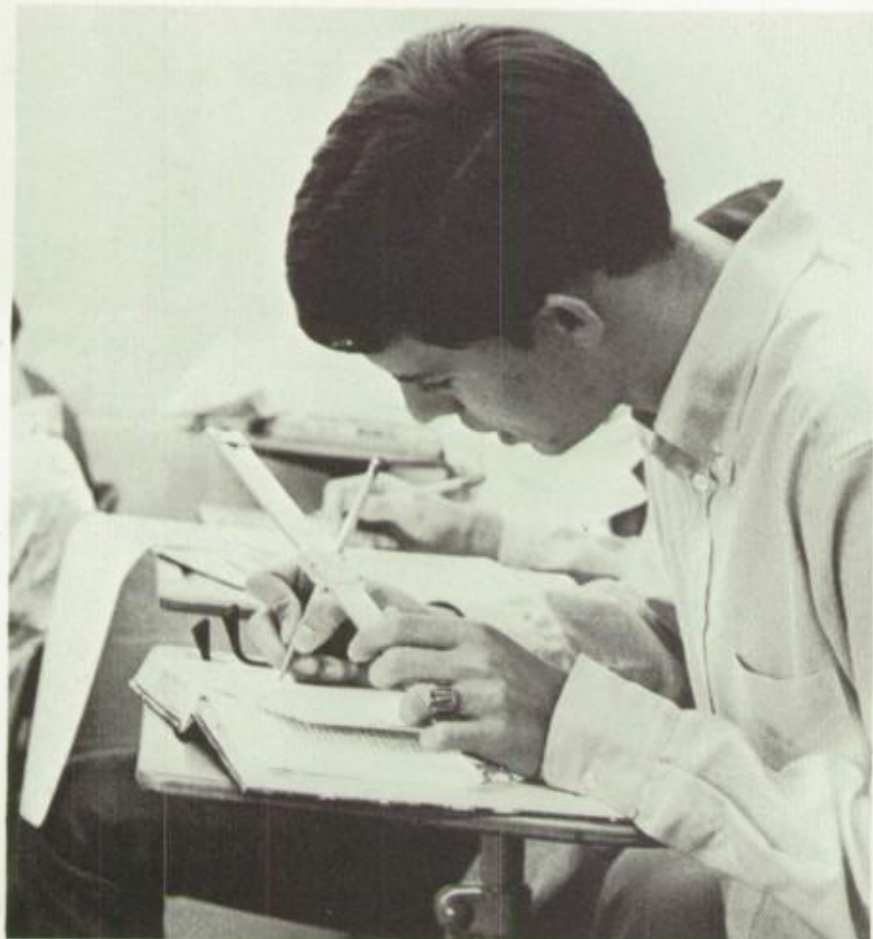

A.P. Chemistry was introduced this year and taught by Mr. Neil Miller. This course had previously been taught several years ago, however, it was discontinued when the teacher left Southeast. According to Mr. Miller, A.P. Chemistry taught the students to make their own discoveries, instead of telling the students what the outcome of their experiments were supposed to be. This advanced course was set on the college level and 25 students participated in it this year.

New equipment added to the department included a transparent globe, kymograph, which is a rotating graph instrument, and a Plant Study Center with an accessory kit, used to grow plants in artificial light. Mrs. Lucille Rader, a new faculty member, taught biology, as well as German.

Mr. Douglas Fulton, head of the math department, felt that the main objectives of the department were to establish the best possible math background for students, as many of them would go on to college. Many students continued in the mathematics field throughout high school, after having completed their one unit of math required to graduate.

Courses in this department included Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, Analytics, Trigonometry, Principles of Math, Analytical Geometry, and Calculus and Analytics. Calculus and Analytics was the most advanced math course offered, with 15 students enrolled in this year course.

Nine teachers and approximately 1400 students made up the mathematics department this year. Two new math teachers, Mrs. Opal Moran and Mr. Jimmie Moreland, were added to the faculty, replacing Mr. Robert Herdt, who had previously taught algebra and geometry classes.

pupils apply skills in industrial arts

"To better understand industry" and to learn how to become a better buyer and consumer were the main objectives of the Industrial Arts Program, according to Mr. Ralph Schaudé, department head.

The Industrial Arts Department included various courses in mechanical drawing, pre-engineering, auto information, auto mechanics, drivers' education, general metals, plastics, and woodworking. Numerous projects involved the designing of architecture and machine drawing, and constructing everything from tables and bookcases to stereo and television cabinets. In Auto Mechanics, students learned how to repair engine systems, transmissions, and brakes, and they then applied their knowledge by working on their own cars, after they had acquired the knowledge necessary in class. Students attended the class for two hours a day, which was taught by Mr. Bill Lantz.

future homemakers learn basic skills

By learning various homemaking skills and the importance of family relationships, students gained valuable knowledge in Home Economics classes. Courses in this department included Sewing, Foods, Child Care, Housing and Home Furnishings, and Home and Family Living.

Besides skills such as tailoring garments and preparing holiday refreshments, girls learned the importance of time management, how to plan their wardrobes and coordinate accessories, and how to choose china, silverware, and glassware. April 19 was Hospitality Day at Kansas State University in Manhattan. Several Southeast students attended the conference which included a fashion show and tour through the food laboratories and research departments of the University.

Both boys and girls participated in the Home and Family Living courses, and they learned the importance of knowing themselves and creating healthy environments for their future families.

Calisthenics started off each period, as the boys performed rigorous exercises daily in the boys' Physical Education Department. As a change from scholastic studies, boys participated in such sports as tennis, golf, softball, flag football, swimming, track, gymnastics, and wrestling.

According to Coach Don Lamb, one of the main objectives of the Physical Education classes was to acquaint boys with various sports, so that they may gain knowledge in these different areas.

Synchronized swimming was taught for the first time this year in some of the girls' Physical Education classes. Sophomore girls who had "A" and "B" grade averages were able to choose the sports they wished to participate in. This was the first year sophomores were granted this privilege, formerly offered only to junior and senior girls. Various sports and activities included archery, tennis, golf, badminton, volleyball, swimming, life saving, modern dance, and trampoline.

Archery is one of the many sports in which girls may participate in gym class.

emh, honors groups offered by aptitude

In order to meet the needs of students with exceptional problems and abilities, Southeast provided various level classes as in past years. With acceptance determined by aptitude, these courses strove to allow special students to advance at their own rates.

A new room was provided for the Educable Mentally Handicapped (E.M.H.) classes which included a kitchen area, shop area, and a classroom. According to Mrs. Wilma Stanton, instructor, the purpose of the E.M.H. classes was to "give the students an education that will prepare them to live independantly in the community."

Advanced Placement classes were offered to students this year in English and Chemistry. The purpose of A.P. classes were to provide students with a more advanced study and to recieve varying hours of college credit, depending on the results of a year-end test.

Honors English was again offered to students on all three class levels. The courses were designed for more intensive study than regular classes, and students' work was expected to have higher quality.

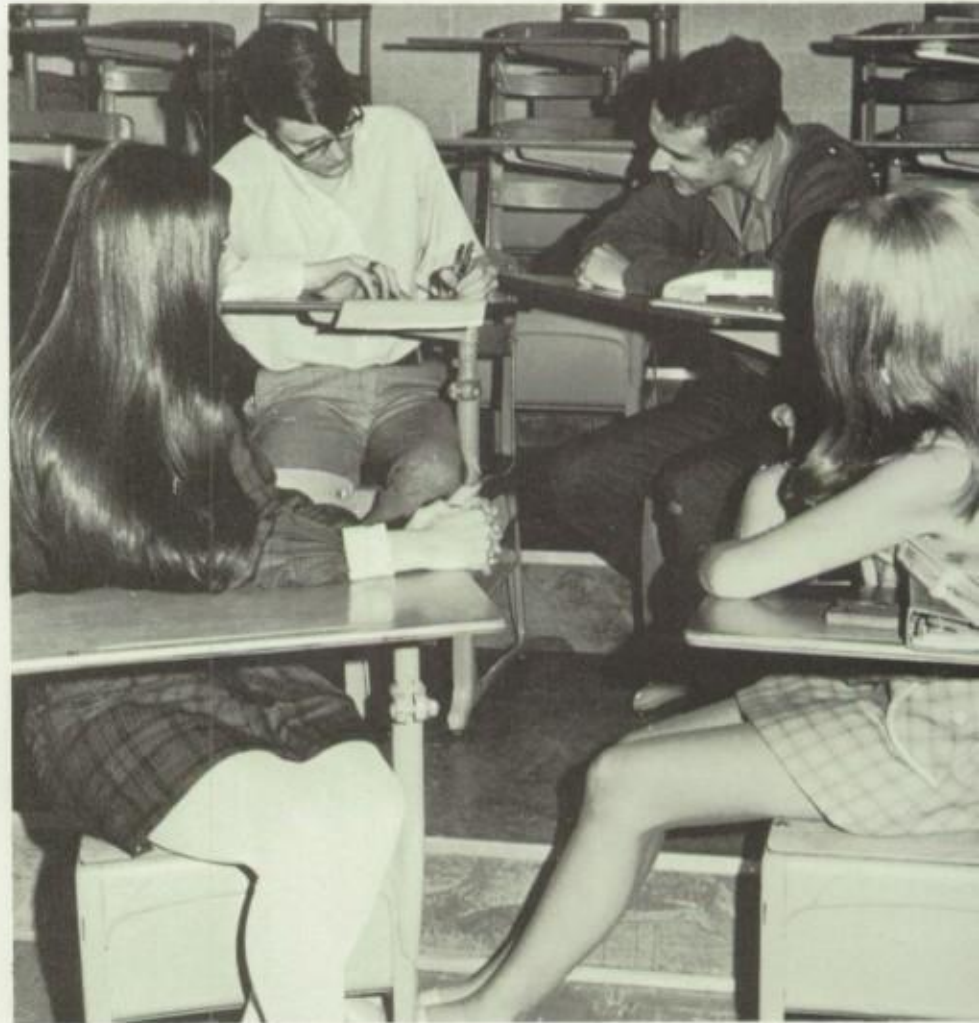

An independant research group was formed in the senior class Government. The purpose was to give students an opportunity to go into more intensive study on various Government related projects.

Seniors Jo Murray, Mark Anderson, Bob Frensley, and Peggy Bauer were among those involved in the independant research group from Government classes. Students participating in the study met in Mr. Neil Miller's chemistry room due to space limitation.

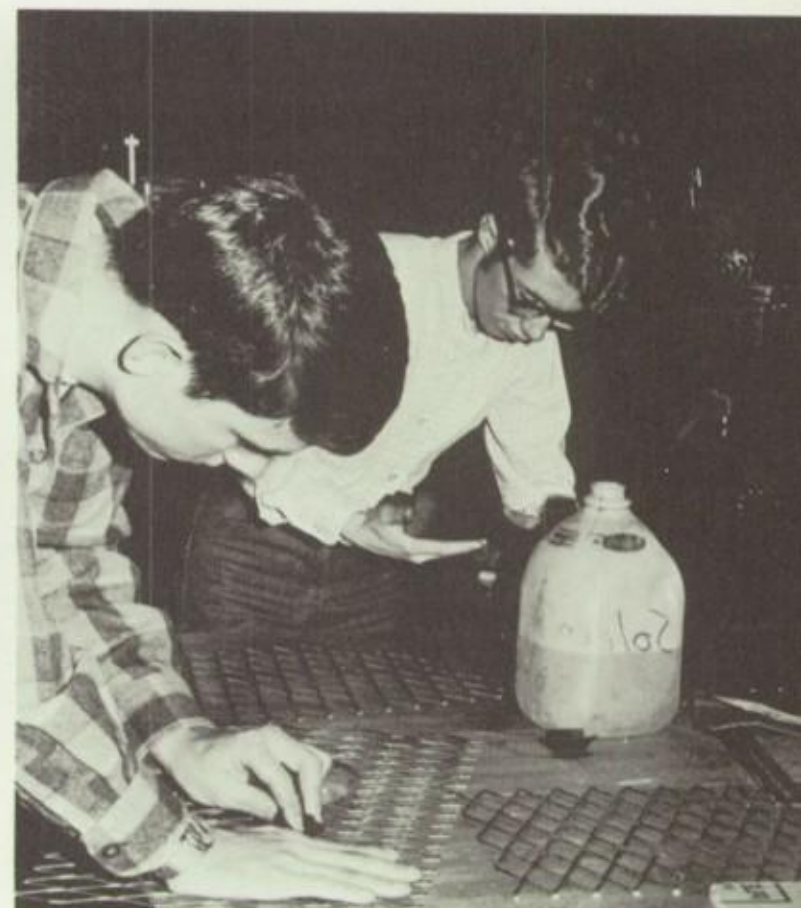

Students in E.M.H. classes draw their own designs and make rock pictures out of colored pebbles for gifts.

curriculum provides job skills courses

BELOW, installing a timing chain in Mr. Bill Lantz's Auto Mechanics class are juniors Mike Owens and Bill Gist. Approximately 300 students, both boys and girls, participated in one or more Industrial Arts classes during the year.

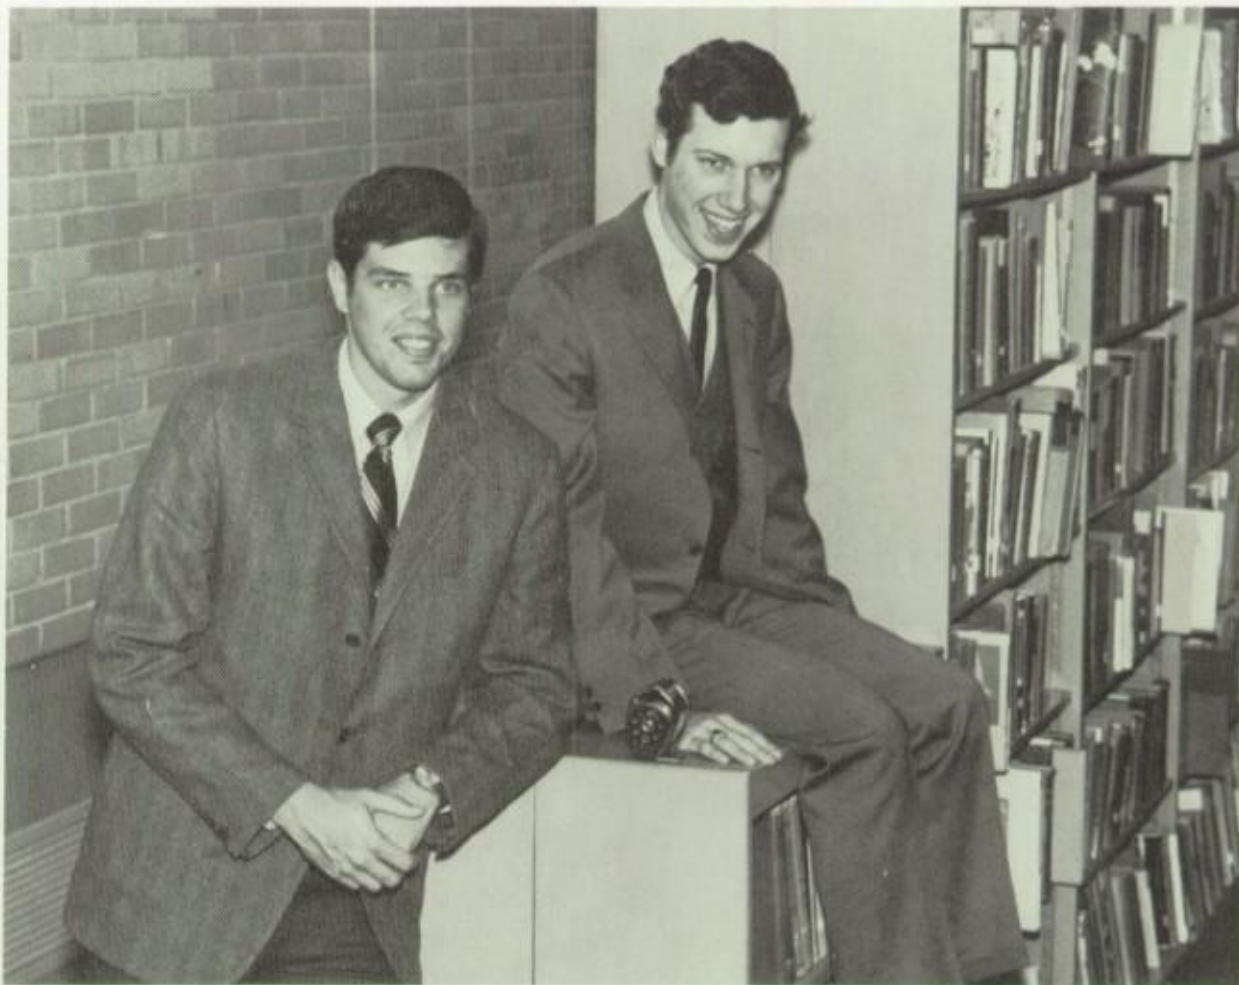

As a comprehensive high school, Southeast's curriculum included courses for students desiring job skills as well as college preparatory classes. Not only do students have an opportunity to learn skills which can help them in future jobs, but they also often gain enough background to get a job in helping with future educational expenses.

According to Mr. Ralph Schaudé, Industrial Arts department head, "the purpose of the Industrial Arts program was to train the student to go into the world of work and/or give the student an engineering background in which he can delve into more upon continuing his education."

Auto Mechanics, Drafting, Metals, Plastics, and Woodworking were included in the Industrial Arts program this year. Enough training was given in the classroom for many of these students to continue in jobs requiring these skills. For example, during the last four years, every student who has taken Auto Mechanics at Southeast has been placed in some type of job requiring these skills. For example, during the last four years, every student who has taken Auto Mechanics at Southeast has been placed in some type of job requiring automotive knowledge and skill.

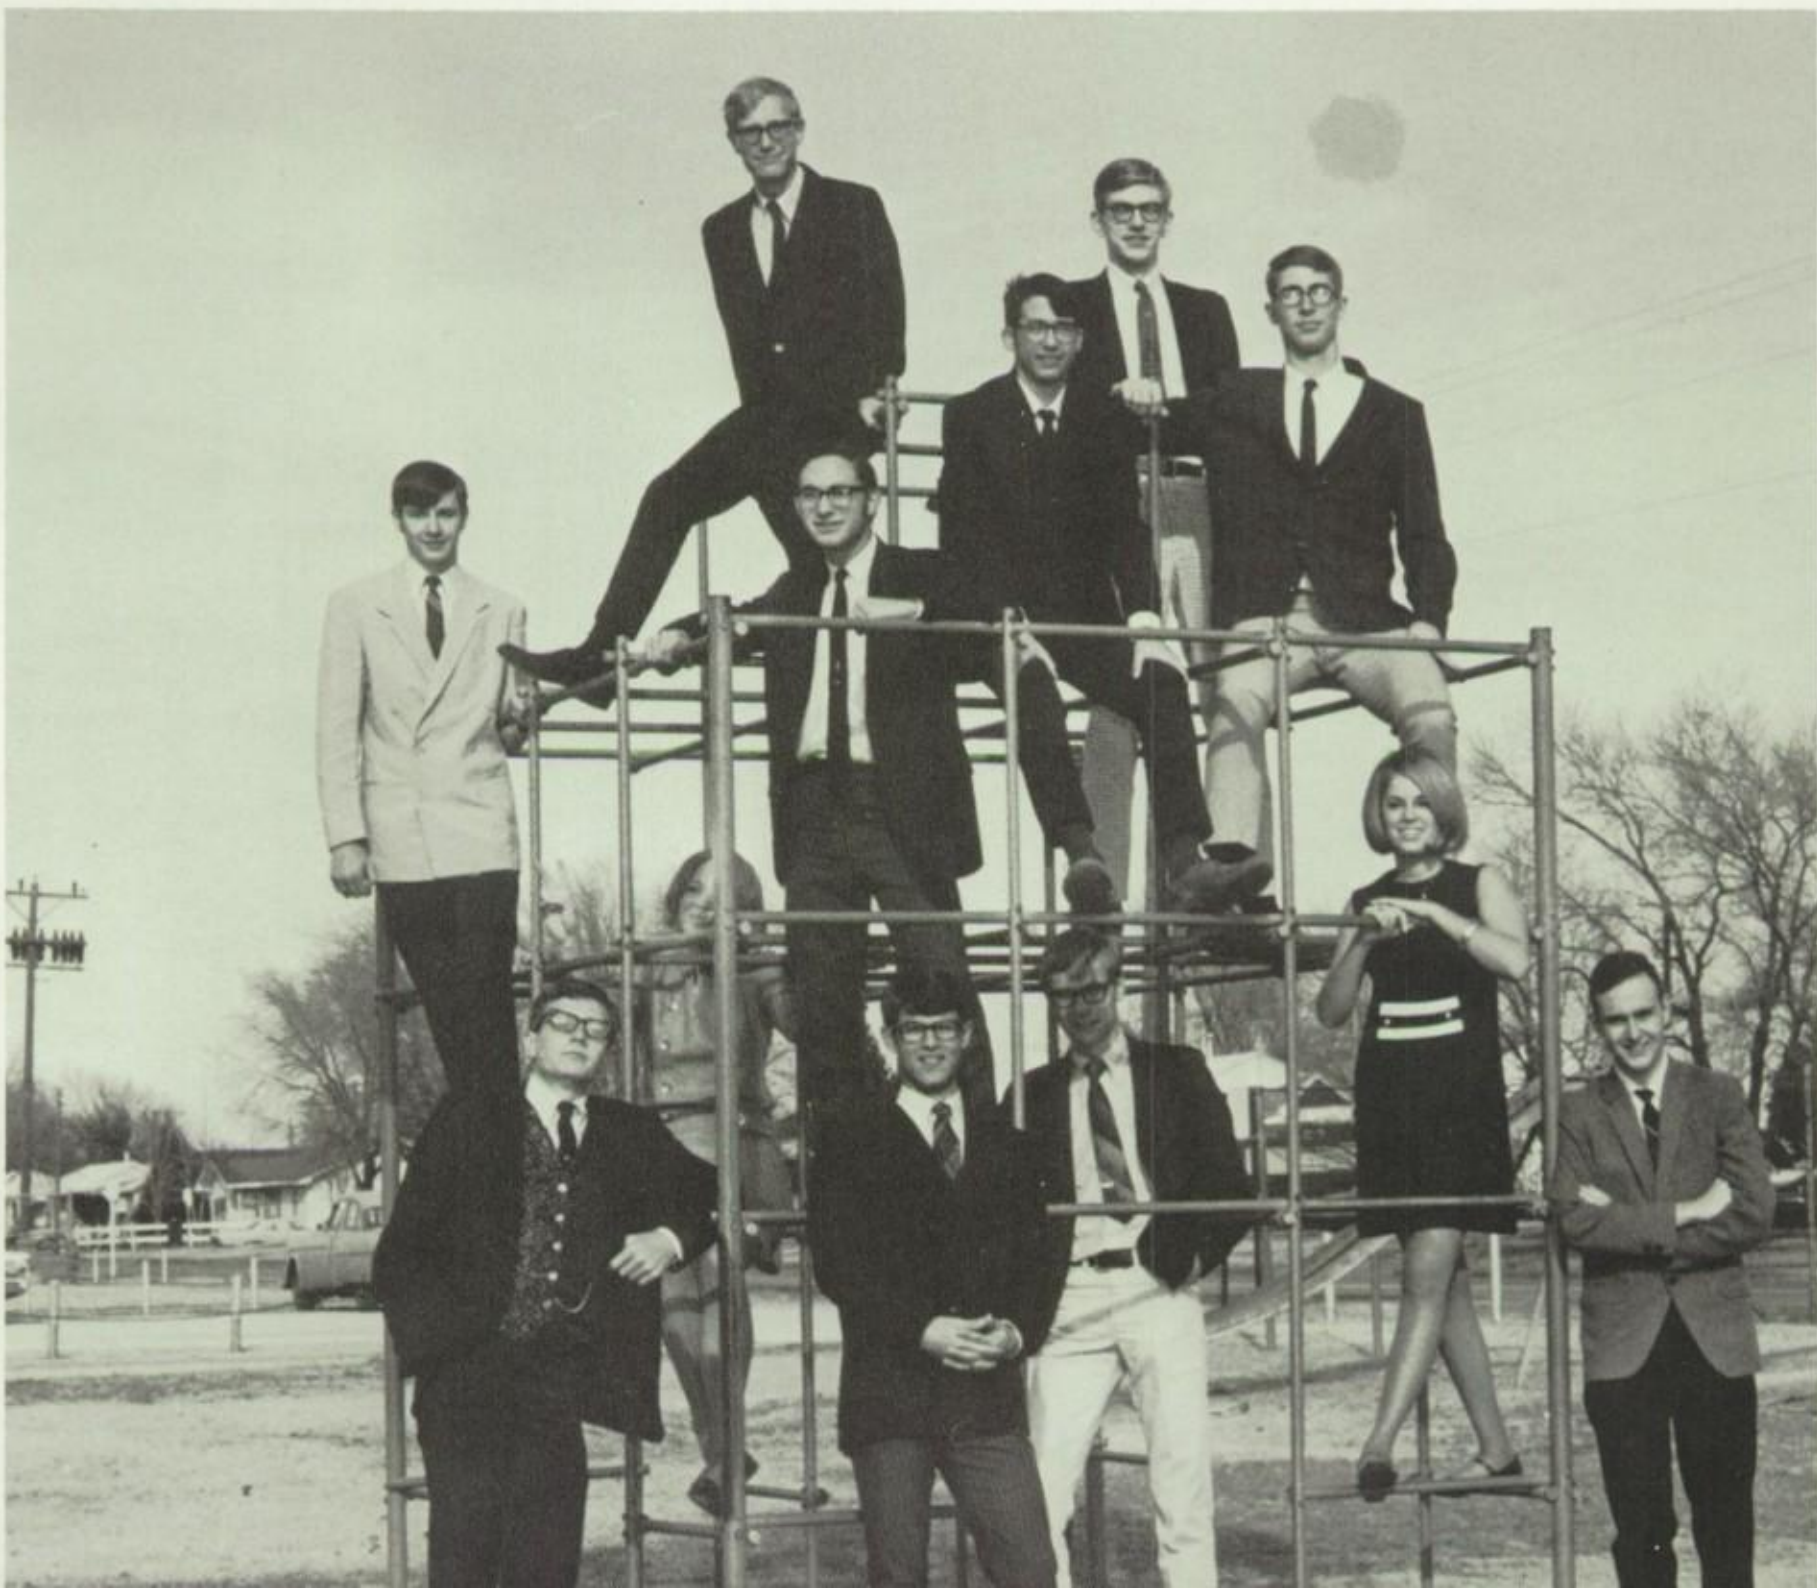

Secretarial Training was offered as a two hour course. The course was designed to give training to students so that they would be qualified for business jobs. The class operated dictaphones, ditto and mimeograph machines, and rotary calculators and adding machines, and increased their shorthand and typing proficiency.

BETTY CROCKER WINNER — Carol Williams.

Fourteen students from Southeast were named as National Merit finalists this year. Approximately 200 students took the three and a half hour test February, 1968, which included the students' capacity to understand concepts of math, science, and social studies. Twenty-one students also recieved Letters of Commendation.

Seniors Mark Bleck and Phil Speary were named runners-up in the National Council of Teachers of English Writing Awards Contest. Five students represented Southeast, who competed by writing impromptu themes, creative writing samples and English tests. Five winners and five runners-up were then chosen from the entries to represent the state of Kansas. Since 1960, Southeast has had a winner or runner-up in the contest each year.

Seven boys and one girl represented Southeast this year at the American Legion Sunflower Boys' State and the American Legion Auxillary Girls' State. Both took place last June at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kansas. The idea behind the camps was to acquaint students from all over Kansas with the function of the government on a city, county, and state level.

Winner of the 1969 Betty Crocker Homemaker Award was senior Carol Williams. Carol competed in a written aptitude test on December 4, 1968. The test involved a short essay and 100 multiple choice questions concerning various aspects of home and family life.

Though failing to match last year's outstanding record, the Southeast Debate Squad still remained a challenging opponent to other state powers during the 1968-69 season. Traveling throughout Kansas, students were able to gain practical experience in debate and also meet other high school forensics students.

Five neighboring schools and Southeast participated in the District Debate Tournament conducted at Southeast this year. Southeast's four representatives were awarded third place at the outcome of the tourney, with El Dorado winning first.

Southeast Invitational Tournament, October 11 and 12, was organized by advanced debaters with the co-operation of all forensic students. The tourney consisted of both Experienced and Novice divisions.

The first trophy of the year, won by seniors Mary Pearce and Don Stuart was fourth place at the Atchison Invitational Tournament. Two juniors, Don Hatfield and Keith Sanborn, won two trophies, second place from Southwestern College and fourth from Shawnee Mission West. The Wichita Heights Silver Challenge Tourney awarded two other Southeast juniors, Bruce Jewitt and Pat Black, their third place trophy.

STAMPEDE

First and second year students of the Journalism classes worked together to meet the deadlines of publishing the Stampede weekly under the direction of Mr. Dean Campbell, Advisor. During first semester, beginning students learned basic reporting, writing news stories, features, and editorials. Second semester was devoted to Photo Journalism, which consisted of operating the camera, taking pictures and developing prints. The new Journalism class was one of the rooms constructed out of the former library. The new facilities include an adjoining dark room and staff room, so students wanting to work on the newspaper could work in a separate room without disturbing classroom activities.

Besides holding the major positions on the Stampede, Journalism II students worked with people in Journalism I classes to help them gain an understanding of the staff positions so that they may fill the same positions during their second year.

For the first time this year the "underground" newspaper, the Conspectus, was published as a weekly column within the school newspaper with the consent of Mr. Campbell to give students outside of the Journalism department a chance to air opinions and voice criticisms.

Stampede editors are seniors Sharon Reed, second semester, and Nancy Beren, first semester.

'hoofbeats' staff expanded in scope

Meeting one of the roughest schedules in the state, cropping pictures, writing copy, and laying out pages were some of the problems members of the Hoofbeats staff had to cope with while working on the yearbook. Staff members worked under the direction of Mr. Dean Campbell, Advisor.

Major staff positions were usually held by Journalism II students. However, this was the first year in which students could work on the yearbook without having to be enrolled in Journalism. This was both to give non-Journalism students a chance to work on school publications and to make possible more selectivity in the Yearbook staff. Some positions held by non-Journalism students included Business Manager and the Junior Class editors. Students in Journalism I classes were also involved with yearbook work, as many of these students held such positions as Class Coordinator, Organizations Section editors, and assistant section editors.

band and orchestra show music talents

Under the direction of Mr. Thayne Tolle, 107 members of the marching band entertained and performed during half-time ceremonies at all home games, including the Homecoming game. Their songs varied from the musical, "South Pacific", to other popular songs such as "Windy" and musical selections from Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass. After the football season was over, members of the marching band made up the concert band which performed various times throughout the year. Their first concert was presented December 17, in which they played several Christmas songs, along with other numbers. The band, orchestra, and various instrumental ensembles also performed in the State Music Festival, held at Southeast for the third consecutive year.

The orchestra presented four concerts during the year, and both adults and students performed as soloists with the orchestra at their programs. Many of these students were also chosen to perform in the pit orchestra in South Pacific. Planning tours and visiting various junior high schools also made up part of this year's schedule for the orchestra. The purpose was to help encourage junior high students to continue on in instrumental music when they entered high school.

stage band and pep band raise spirit

Creating school spirit and raising morale were the main goals of the Southeast pep band. Under the instruction of Mr. Thayne Tolle, 31 members played in school pep assemblies and at home basketball games. All students interested in playing in the pep band had to audition and had to be either a member of the band or orchestra. As a class was not set aside for pep band, the members practiced after school. Some of the songs played during the games included "Up, Up and Away" and "Georgie Girl".

Another instrumental group directed by Mr. Tolle which helped create spirit was that of the stage band. Many students enjoyed the special assemblies and concerts which the stage band presented throughout the year. Twenty-one members were included within the group, and several of these people arranged various types of music which were often performed in school assemblies. February 20 the stage band and concert band performed with Clark Terry, who is the head trumpeter on the NBC Tonite Show, in a special evening assembly.

select girls', boys voices entertain school

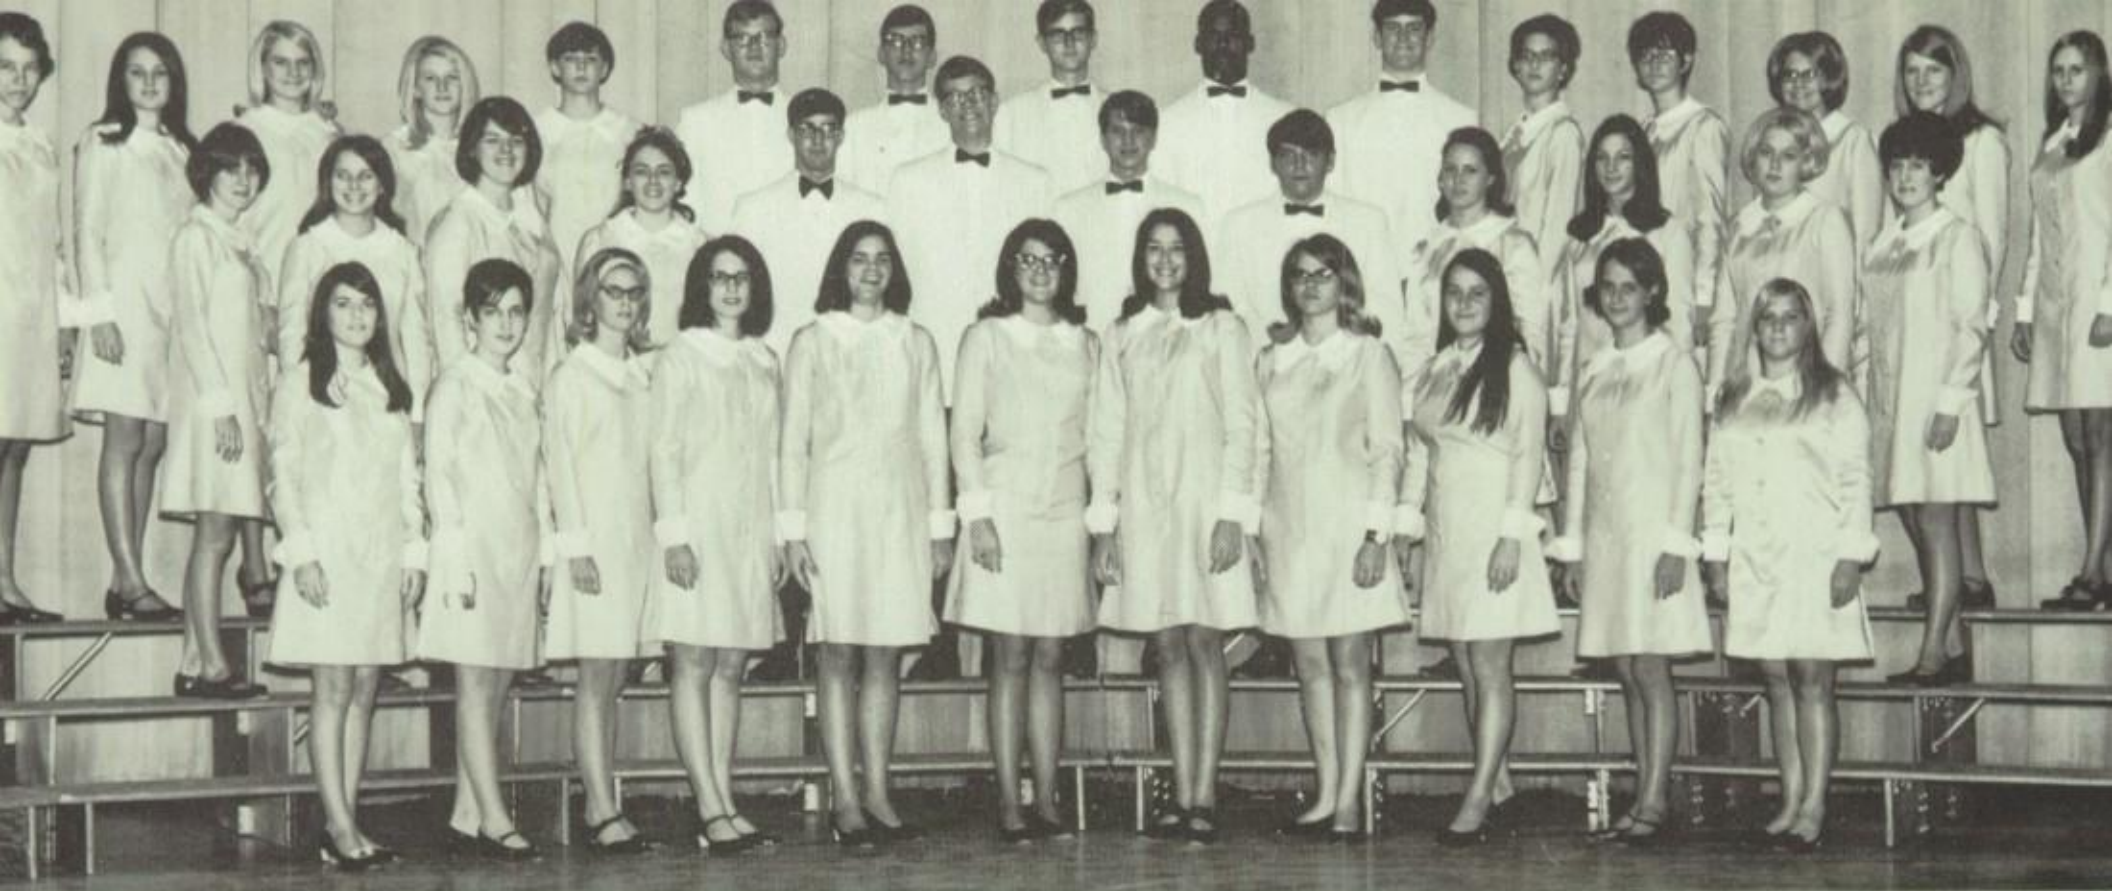

Mr. Vernon Nicholson again directed the Junior Misses ensemble. This group was composed of 26 junior and senior girls who were interested in gaining further instruction in vocal music and improving their skills in interpreting and reading music. This ensemble performed many times for various civic groups and church-related organizations. Besides participating in programs in the school, Junior Misses also performed in the State Music Festival and in Choraesque.

Boys Ensemble, which included 13 junior and senior boys were also instructed by Mr. Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson originated the group three years ago and since then, this ensemble has presented programs to various civic groups, church organizations and related school activities. The Boys Ensemble also participates in the State Music Festival and the annual Choraesque program presented in the spring. Students interested in singing with the group audition for the ensemble at the end of the school year.

One hundred and five member Choraleer group was directed by Mr. Vernon Nicholson. Their year was a busy one as they performed in numerous concerts, assemblies, junior high schools, and "South Pacific". During Teachers' Meeting, they also presented a program for the Kansas Music Educator's Association at North High School. Besides presenting Choralessque, members of the group took a special spring trip to Des Moines, Iowa.

Madrigals, a highly selective group of mixed voices were again under the guidance of Mr. Nicholson. This year 22 junior and senior voices composed the group, presenting numerous programs for conventions, civic groups, and school programs.

Mrs. Trudy Burkholder directed Modernaires, another mixed chorus group made up of 43 juniors and seniors. Modernaires performed in four concerts throughout the year. To be eligible for the group students had to audition by sight reading and by singing something they were familiar with.

soph. vocal groups get music knowledge

Twenty-three voices made up the "Backstage Minority" ensemble as compared to the ten voices which composed the ensemble last year. Under the direction of Mrs. Trudy Burkholder, this group performed for its second year for various organizations throughout the city. The "Backstage Minority" also sang in both city and state competition.

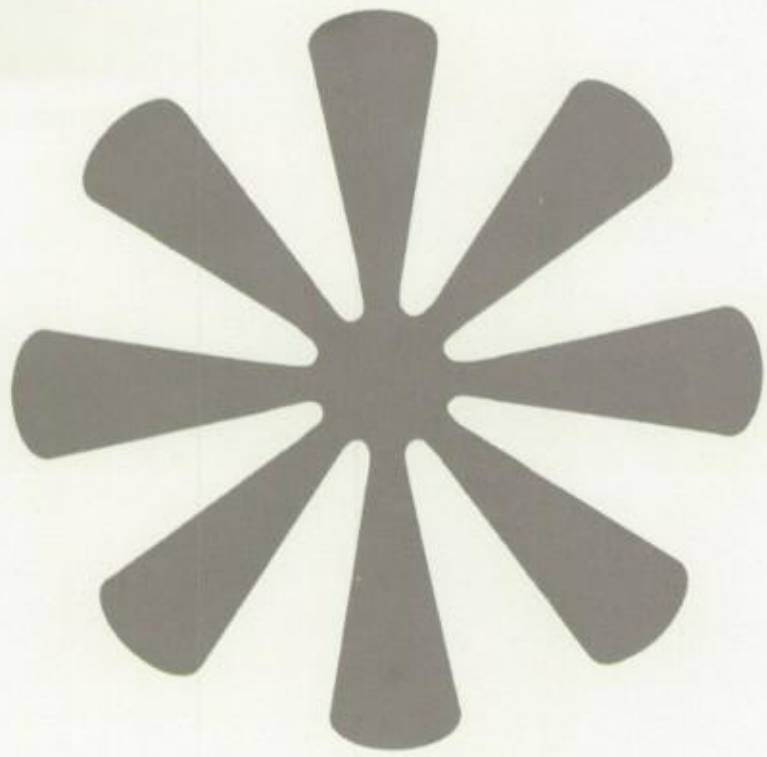

First, third, and sixth hours classes made up the Girls Glee Club, which was also directed by Mrs. Burkholder. With the three hours combined, a total of 60 girls participated in the glee club. This group also performed in various programs throughout the year and competed in the State Music Festival.

Mr. Vernon Nicholson directed the Sophomore Choir, which consisted of 100 mixed voices. These students were chosen to participate in this choir through the recommendation of junior high teachers. By participating in the choir, students had a chance to improve their singing skills, with many of them wishing to continue on in vocal music.

Sophomore Ensemble, also under the instruction of Mr. Nicholson, performed in various school programs and assemblies. This group included 22 mixed voices.

Queen Mary and her attendants Carol Schaefer and Carol Williams reigned over Saturday's Homecoming dance, "Autumn Gala". At this time all three girls were given Homecoming necklaces and Mary received flowers and a football autographed by the team.

fine arts presents south seas musical

South Pacific, the Rogers and Hammerstein musical, was presented by the Fine Arts Department November 21, 22, and 23. The romantic comedy took place during World War II in the South Pacific on a naval base and Bali-Hai, a nearby island.

The plot consisted of two love stories, one happy and one tragic, intermingled with the comic escapades by the soldiers as they try to get to Bali-Hai where the young French women are. Ensign Nellie Forbush grew to love French plantation owner Emile de Becque and Lieutenant Joe Cable fell in love with Liat, a native girl. The climax came when the two men were lost on a secret spying mission. In the end, Joe Cable was killed, but Emile and Nellie were reunited.

Senior Nancy Hertzler volunteered her extra summer time working at the Wichita Historical Museum on Douglas. She and fifteen other high school volunteers answered visitors' questions and sold souvenirs.

Much of senior Mark Anderson's time throughout July and August was spent at McCarthy Headquarters at 127 East William. While viewing the inside political world, Mark, shown here with East senior Jill Casado, answered the telephone and read memos from the headquarters of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. He also had the opportunity to study a list of delegates to the Convention. Seniors Mary Pearce and Paul Schowalter also assisted in the McCarthy movement.

Sophomore Linda Lyle and junior Laurie Leonard delivered flowers to patients in Wesley Hospital. Wheeling patients to therapy, running errands, and taking samples to the lab were among their other duties. Other Southeast students also volunteered for candystripping, including Cheryl Dowell and Patti Jones.

Junior Ginny Moyer tutored five students throughout the year in math. One of forty-eight tutors, she applied in the volunteer program, which has existed at Southeast for four years.

Teaching basic swimming techniques, Bruce Snyder also learned from his blind pupils. Bruce, a junior, worked with blind and disabled children twice a month at the YMCA with ten other high school volunteers.

SE students enjoy 'bewitching hour'

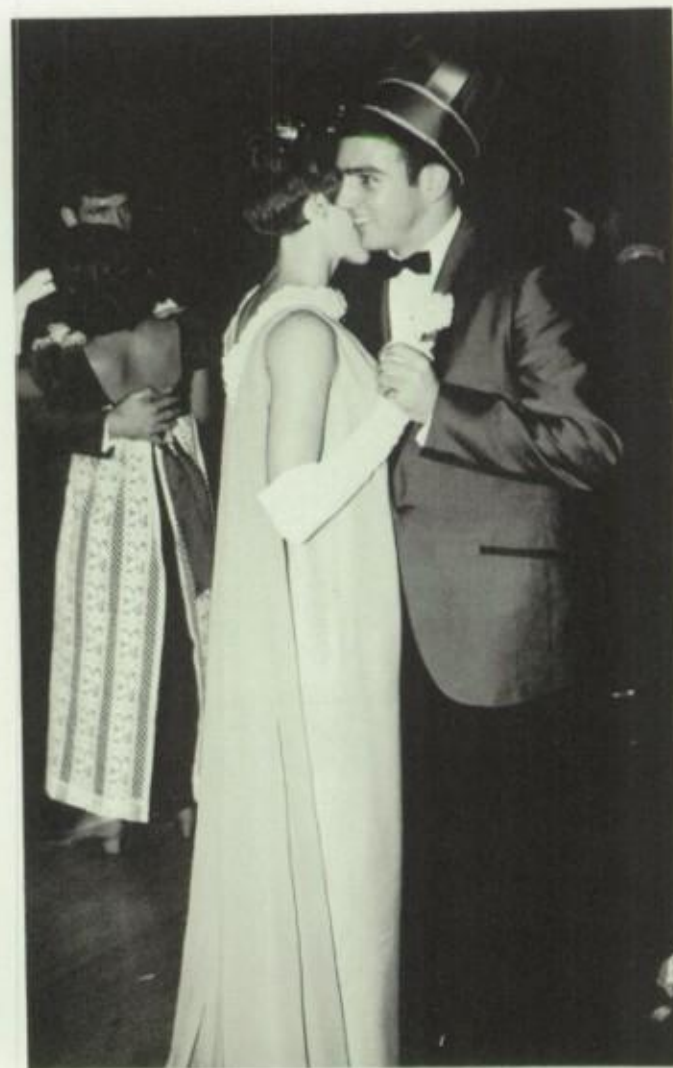

"The Bewitching Hour" was an appropriate theme for Southeast's Junior-Senior Prom on October 31 at the Cotillion Ballroom. A huge black and red coach, black and white roses on the tables, and various other decorations reminded everyone that it was Halloween.

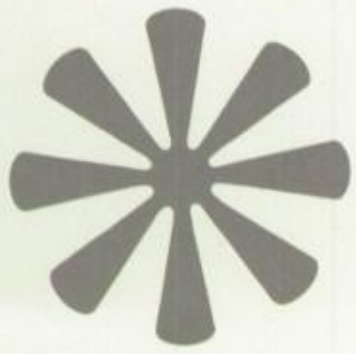

The 1968 prom queen and king Billie Harmison and Spencer Davies were crowned shortly before the bewitching hour. They were attended by seniors Debbie Kidwell and David Gensch, and Carol Williams and Dan Hirleman, and juniors Karen Gamble and Randy Feese, and Shelley Hayes and Bob Howse. After the coronation ceremonies, presided over by Scott Smith, Student Body Vice-president, the royal couples danced to the familiar song, "Misty".

Southeast students and their guests wore many types of costumes to the annual event. Boy's apparel ranged from tails and top hats to Nehru jackets. Girls were dressed in long and short formals, and even in dress pants of all colors including the Halloween colors of black and orange.

sweetheart crowned at 'cupid's court'

Climaxing one of the busiest weeks of the school year was the 1969 Sweetheart Dance in which Debbie Kidwell was crowned Southeast's Basketball Sweetheart. The dance took place on Saturday February 15 and the theme of the annual event was "Cupid's Court". Debbie and finalists Marilyn Gustin and Jan Tippin reigned over the court dance.

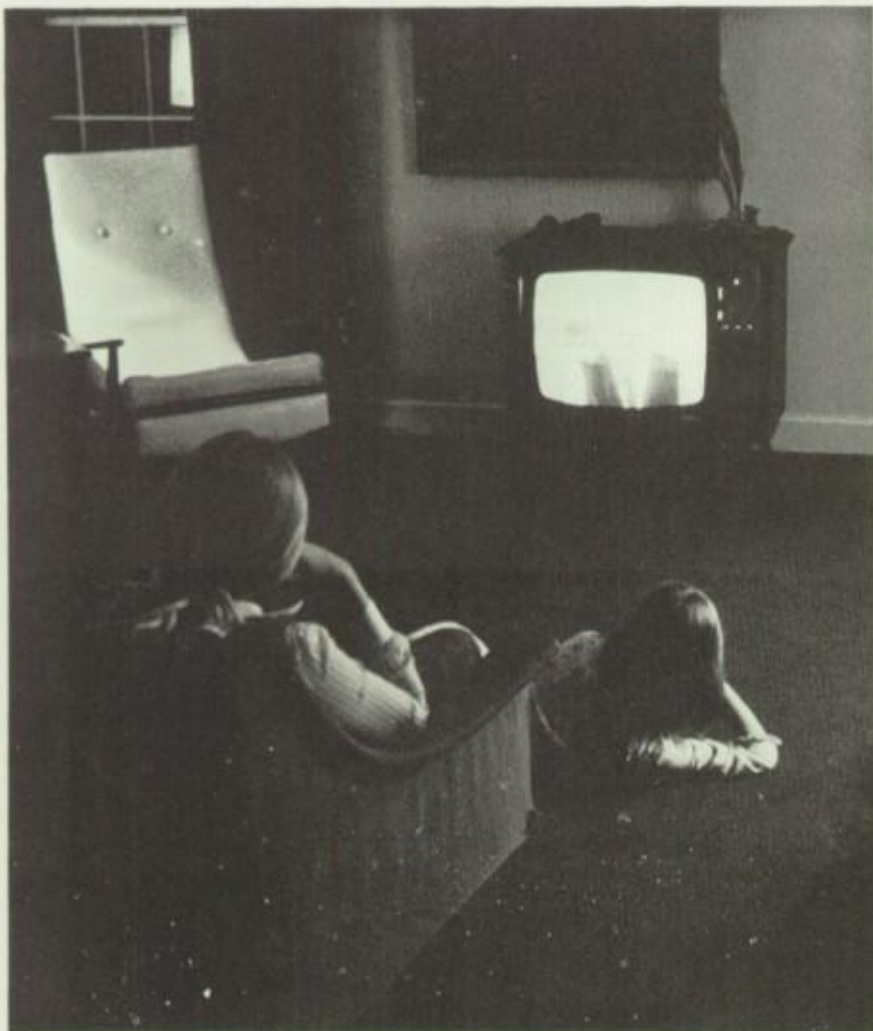

The week before the dance was "Spirit Week" and many of the activities which accompanied it were climaxed by Saturday's dance and coronation. Classes competed for the spirit trophy, which was awarded to the sophomore class. Southeast also hosted out-of-city exchange students; the basketball team beat both South and East, and just a few hours before the dance, Southeast swimmers captured the state title.

During the coronation ceremonies, Debbie's escort, David Gensch, crowned her and presented the traditional roses and kiss. The royal couples then danced to the song "Whiter Shade of Pale". For the first time, the girls nominated for Sweetheart and their escorts were introduced and the winner was announced at the dance instead of at half-time ceremonies the night before. This was because the teams scheduled to play in the game after Southeast's had to warm-up on the court during half-time.

youth board works to solve problems

Discussing and attempting to solve some of the problems of youth, the Wichita Area Youth Board was composed of seventy members, four juniors and four seniors from each high school in the city. Members at Southeast were selected by student body election and interviews with Youth Board members for two-years.

Included in the activities and responsibilities of the Youth Board were sponsoring the Fall Conference, working on civic projects, sponsoring dances, and helping with the Wichita Centennial activities.

In the six years Youth Board has existed, three Southeast seniors have been president. This year Paul Shellito was president, as was his brother Judd in 1965-66, and Jane McLaughlin in 1964-65.

Student Council Directors are Mike Graves, Elections; Betsy Sadler, Publications; Carol Schafer, Finance; and Preston Bramer, Student Lounge.

The Student Council was designed to aid in the formation of school policy, to develop leaders, and most important, to act as a media of communication between the administration and the student body. The sponsors of Student Council were Mr. John Morton and Mrs. Barbara Calvert.

Officers of Student Council sponsored projects to benefit the school, including fund drives, supporting a foster child in the Philippines, and an out-of-city Student Exchange. Other activities were Homecoming and Sweetheart dances, Open Season on Males (OSOM) Week and Spirit Week, a week of class rivalry.

Appointed directors of the Student Council also played a major part in carrying out projects during the year. They were the Directors of Finance, Elections, Publications, the All-School Project, and Student Lounge.

cheerleaders, club generate enthusiasm

Generating enthusiasm for Southeast athletic teams was the function of the 1968-69 Southeast Pep Club. Composed of 720 members, the club was the largest in the history of Southeast. President Laurie Evans headed the Pep Club Cabinet, consisting of representatives from each class. The Pep Club was sponsored by Mrs. Betty Fugit. Besides cheering at athletic events, the Pep Club supported such activities as dances, inter-school dinners and bake sales.

In addition to cheering at athletic events, the twelve cheerleaders, elected by the student body, sponsored dances and cheerleading clinics. Before games the cheerleaders made posters and sold ribbons to promote school spirit. The six varsity cheerleaders led the Pep Club at varsity games, while the six B-team cheerleaders cheered at B-team and sophomore athletic events. Both cheerleading squads were sponsored by Mrs. Ruby Schrader.

honor clubs require talents and grades

THESPIANS — Working hard to fulfill their motto "Act well your part; for there all the honor lies" were the members of the Thespian Club. Each member was required to work at least 100 hours on a dramatic production by Southeast. Southeast's Thespians, sponsored by Miss Ruth McCormick, are members of the National Thespian Society, an honorary club with school memberships from various states.

QUILL AND SCROLL — Honored for their outstanding work in some phase of journalism were the ten members of Quill and Scroll, sponsored by Mr. Dean Campbell. The three fields, newspaper, yearbook, and photo-journalism gave each journalist an opportunity to excel in his own area of interest. The activities of Quill and Scroll included sponsoring the UMOG contest and dance, plus having many dinners for the journalism department.

NFL — Members of the National Forensic League qualified for membership by accumulating points through participation in speech and debate tournaments. The National Forensic League is a national honorary society for high school debaters and it sponsors competition on state and national levels.

interests purpose of two different clubs

In keeping with their motto "Safety First", the Rifle Club began the year by taking the National Rifle Association's approved safety course. The Rifle Club, sponsored by Mr. Glen Clark, participated in rifle meets with various high schools and the Wichita Small Bore Rifle Association. Rifle Club members shoot for awards ranging from Pro-marksman to Distinguished.

Film Club was organized for the first time this year, under the sponsorship of Mr. John Morton. The members of Film Club had the opportunity to see current films of interest and hear speakers on current film topics; and also make films of their own. These projects were to bring further understanding regarding film-making as both a communication and as an art form.

clubs investigate possible vocations

Investigating possible careers in medicine was the purpose of the Future Medical Careers Club, sponsored by the nurse, Mrs. Margaret Walters. To earn money for charitable donations members sold candy and caramel apples during after-school sales. They also sold stuffed "Buffys" to pay for hospital tours. The motto of the club is "For a future that's bright, be a leader in white."

Members of Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mr. Marvin Huffman, benefited the school through their promotion of student tutoring. A scholarship of $50 was awarded to an outstanding member of the club. Speakers attended regular meetings to explain the difficulties and interests of the teaching profession. Future Teachers Club sponsored a teacher's aide program and a booth in the All School Project. Club members also attended the state convention at Kansas State University in Manhattan.

new skills, letters won by members

GYMNASTICS CLUB — Southeast girls found it possible to participate in competitive gymnastics through Gymnastics Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ruby Schrader and Miss Karen Greene. The 72 members, a 60% increase in membership, traveled to South High School and Wichita State University for gymnastics clinics. Members also performed in a joint swim show with Sea Sprites.

SEA SPRITES — Practicing to develop team work and grace were the seventy-five members of Sea Sprites. Meetings for swim practice were held after school. Sea Sprites, sponsored by Mrs. Betty Fugit, gave performances before the boys' home competitive swim meets. The club ended the year by producing a water show to display their skills.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB — Striving to promote school spirit for all athletic events was the purpose of the Lettermen's Club, composed of seventy boys who had earned a letter in some area of athletics. They sponsored such activities as Dad's Night and the Lettermen's Dance. Other projects of the Lettermen's Club included selling game programs in fourth hour and at games, and sponsoring a booth in the All-School Project. A familiar sight at the football games was lettermen ringing the victory bell when Southeast made a touchdown.

LETTERWOMEN'S CLUB — Letterwomen's Club, sponsored by Miss Wilma Lee, offered to young women a chance to participate in athletic and social activities. To qualify for the club, points were accumulated by being active in after school sports, basketball, baseball, and tennis. Letterwomen sponsored a Father-Daughter and Mother-Daughter bowling tournament, a Junior high Play Day, and a Mother-Daughter Fun Night.

purpose of the various language clubs

Learning about the people and customs of many Spanish speaking countries was the goal of the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Helen Hiebert and Mr. Frank Martinez. Spanish Club was composed of seventy members, an increase of fifteen per cent. Taco parties and a Spanish fiesta are among the activities held by the Spanish Club. Spanish Club also sold tacos at their booth at the All-School Project and held their annual banquet. At Christmas, Spanish Club sent food and clothing to needy families in Latin American countries.

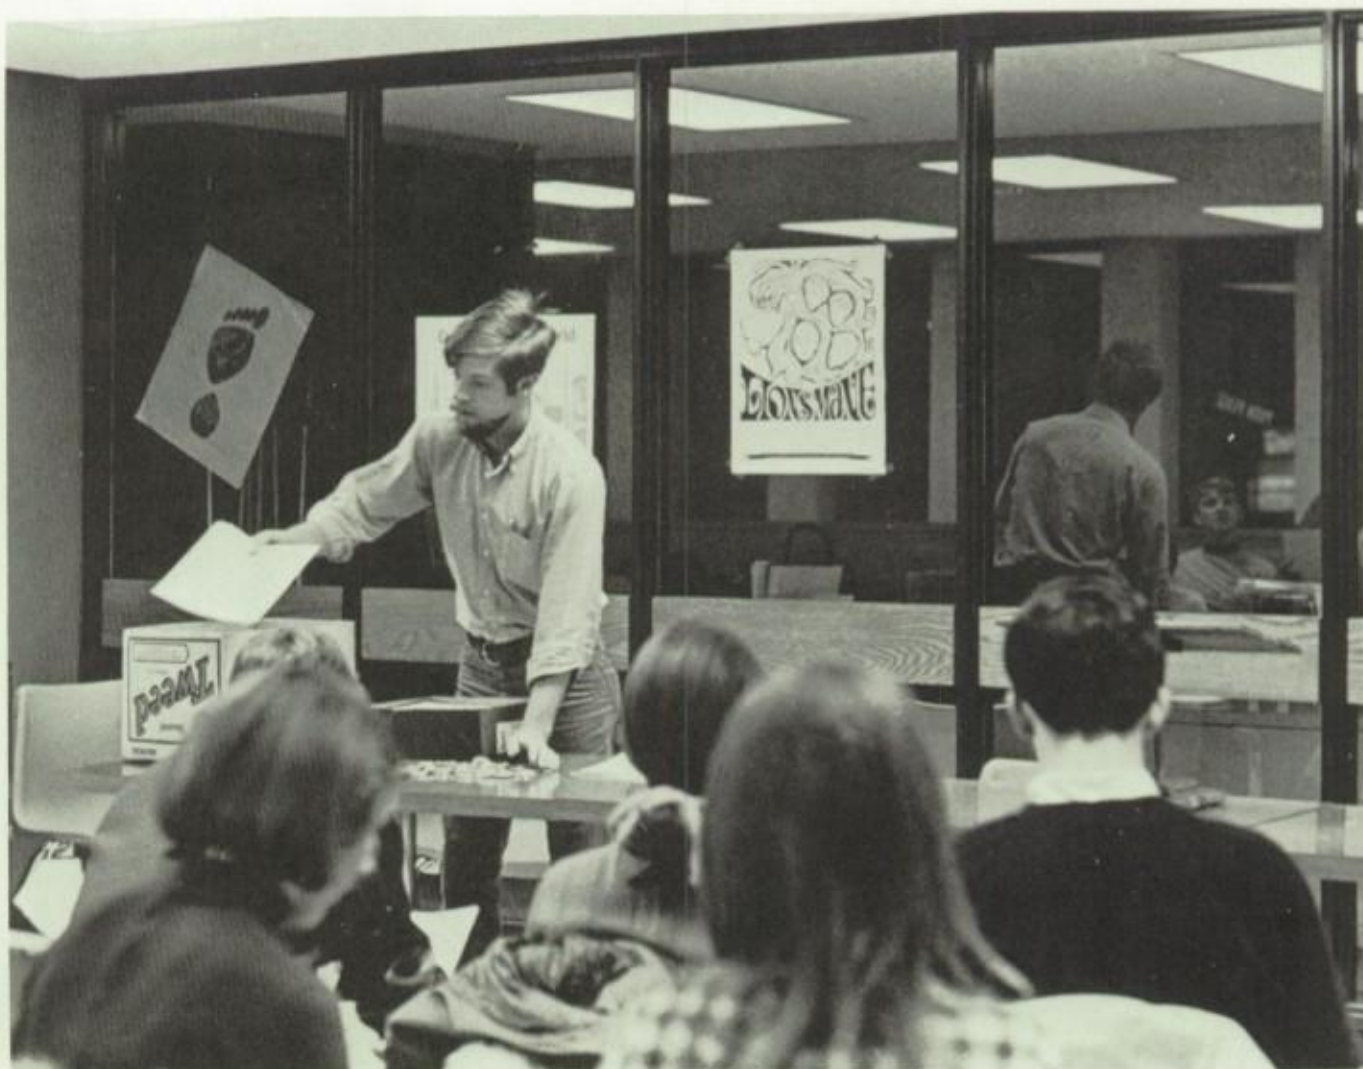

Arousing interest in the German culture among students, the German Club helped many to understand the German language and customs. The students learned more about Germany and its people. The requirement for membership in German Club was to have an interest in the cultural aspects of the German people. The German Club had an increase in membership this year, and thirty students participated in such activities as the progressive dinner, the All-City dinner for German students, their Christmas party, and sponsored a cupcake sale after school. Mr. Marlin Schrag sponsored German Club.

buffs finish second in city league play

Compiling a 6-3 record over-all and a 6-1 record in City League play, the Southeast Golden Buffaloes finished second in the City League, their best finish since 1966.

The Buffs, under the direction of Coach Marvin Vandaveer, had an exciting season in many respects. All of their losses were to highly ranked teams in the state and many of their wins were by impressive margins, such as the 41-12 win over East, the worst thrashing a Southeast team has ever inflicted on the Aces.

Several Southeast players also ranked high in the individual statistics. Dave Gensch was the third leading rusher in the league, Ron Allen was the second leading receiver, and Bob Cox was the third best passer in the City.

Southeast placed four players on the All-City first team, one on the second team, and three received honorable mention. Seniors Marc Henkel, Dave Gensch, and Paul Savage, and junior Ron Allen received first team honors.

sophs and juniors work toward varsity

With the hopes of playing on the varsity next year, the members of the sophomores and B-Teams and the teams themselves had one of the best seasons ever at Southeast. The B-Team, composed mainly of juniors, ran up a 6-1 record under the direction of Mr. Everett Houser, while the sophomores, coached by A. R. "Monk" Edwards and Mr. John Zumalt, compiled a 5-2 record.

The primary purpose of the B-Team was to allow the players to acquire more game experience before playing in varsity games, while the main purpose of the sophomore team was to teach the boys fundamentals of football and to let them get acquainted with Southeast's style of play and the Southeast coaches.

SE takes second at state; finish 21-2

Bowing to the Wyandotte Bulldogs, 45-43, in the championship game, the Southeast Golden Buffaloes captured second place in the 5A State Tournament in Lawrence, Kansas, March 13, 14, and 15. The loss brought the Buffs' final record to 21-2, and broke a twenty-game winning streak extending from the third game of the season.

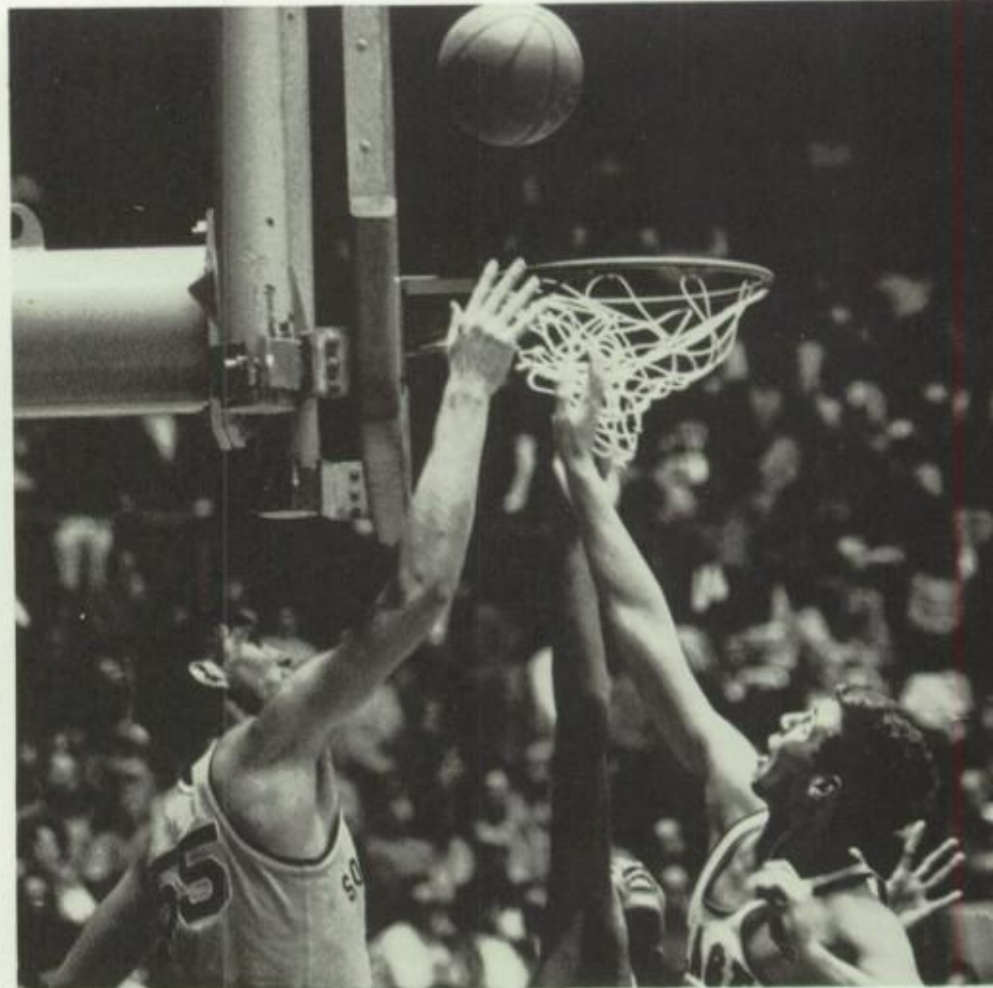

Southeast also grabbed its second straight City League title with a 13-1 record, with the only loss coming at the hands of the West Pioneers. Seniors Randy Canfield and Bob Shaw paced the Buffs to the title and were named to the All-City team while Canfield was also named to the state All-Tournament team.

The Buffs moved into the State Tournament after crushing Wichita South, 77-46, and Wichita East, 45-40, in the Wichita 5A regional. The top-seeded Buffs blasted Shawnee Mission North 70-37 in the opening tilt of the State Tournament, and then slipped by Topeka, 54-49, to make it to the finals, where they were downed by Wyandotte.

The sophomore team and the B-team also had exceptional years as both finished the season undefeated. The Baby Buffs, under Mr. Jack McCreery, had a 16-0 record, while the B-team, coached by Mr. Everett Houser, compiled a 15-0 record.

After gaining strength and experience in the first half of the season, the Southeast cross-country team ran to a fifth place finish in state, the highest the Southeast team has ever placed in the state meet. Other successful meets for the team were first place at the Campus Invitational meet, second place at the Wichita North Regional Meet, and third place at the East Invitational meet.

Heading a group of outstanding runners this year was senior John Noffsinger. John placed second in the state meet with a time of 9:27, forty seconds faster than his time last year at the state meet.

Outstanding individual performers highlighted this year's generally unsuccessful wrestling team. The individuals were Conrad Lawrence, Junior, who many times scored the only points for the Buffalos, and John Ortleb, another winning competitor.

The wrestling team as a whole was not very successful, having an 0-8 record this year at dual meets. Coach Monk Edwards, building for the future, expects a better season next year.

gymnasts finish 2-3 in dual competition

Southeast gymnasts, with victories over West and North, compiled a 2-3 won-loss record and placed fourth in the city meet this year.

Seniors Randy Tegtmeier, Bill Schwiethale, and Dennis Mulvaney were the high scorers of the team in their special events. Tegtmeier, number-one man on the high bar, mastered a difficult routine that earned a 4.175 ratings at the state meet, while both Mulvaney and Schwiethale, the number-one man on the parallel bars, scored often for the Buffs in dual meets.

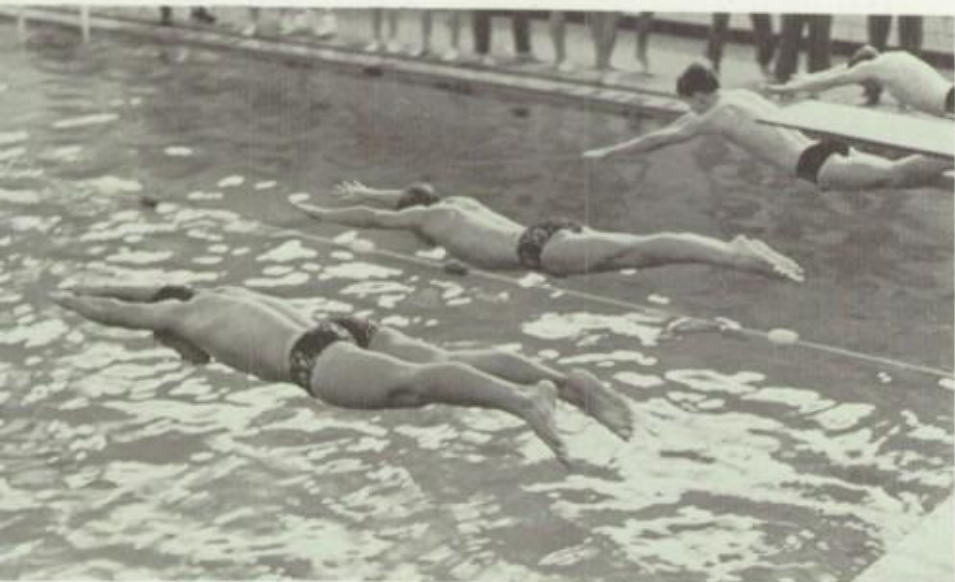

Southeast also placed first in the North Invitational, third in the Heights Invitational, and seventh at the East Invitational, in addition to placing eleventh in the state meet.

Contributing to the Buffs' victory over the West Pioneers in the dual in the Southeast gym, senior Bill Schwiethale executes a move on the parallel bars.

southeast finmen nab state championship

For the second time in the history of Southeast, the Water Buffaloes swam to the state championship at Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas. With ten team members qualifying, two firsts and four seconds enabled the finmen to lead the nearest contender by eleven points. Senior Scott Agee won the 200-yard freestyle event with a time of 1:51.1, while a team of three seniors, Mike Graves, Greg Grismore, Scott Agee, and junior Jeff Schonberg won the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The Southeast swim team, coached by Mr. Charles Hatter, also had an exceptional duel meet record consisting of eight wins and one loss at the hands of the Bartlesville team. The team also captured first place at the Wichita Invitational for the second year in a row.

Over fifty girls participated in volleyball after school. Highlighting the year were meets with other teams from different schools. Many of the girls became interested through the volleyball program in gym classes and through Letterwomen's Club.

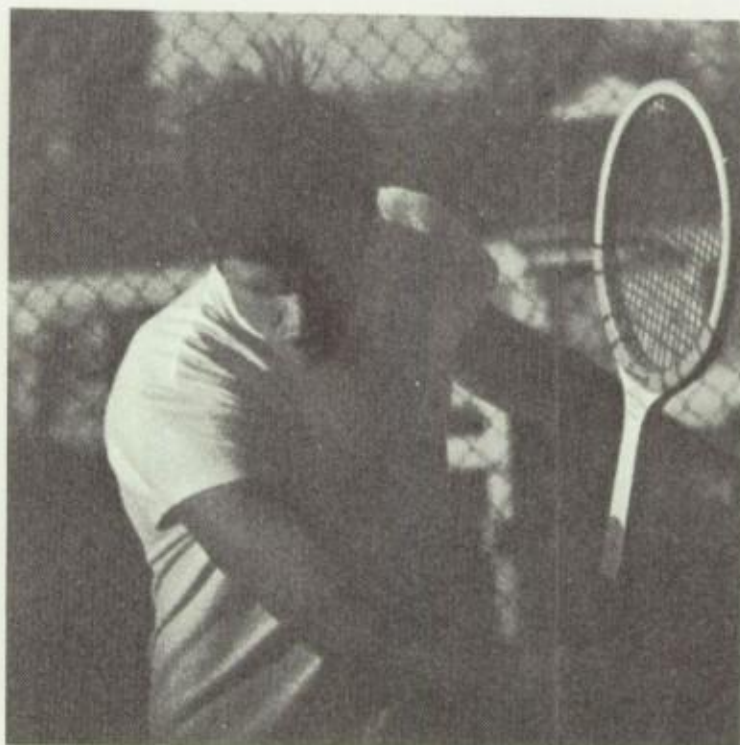

Throughout the basketball intramurals the girls team competed with many other schools. During a practice for a game, Barbara Crelly, senior, attempts to make a basket while Elaine Humphreys, senior, and Pam McCausland, junior, guard her.

Demonstrating rather strange tennis form are seniors Chuck Nathan, LEFT, and Mark Bleck, BELOW. Despite their means of playing the game, they went on to win the boys' tennis intramurals. A double elimination tournament was played in both singles and doubles.

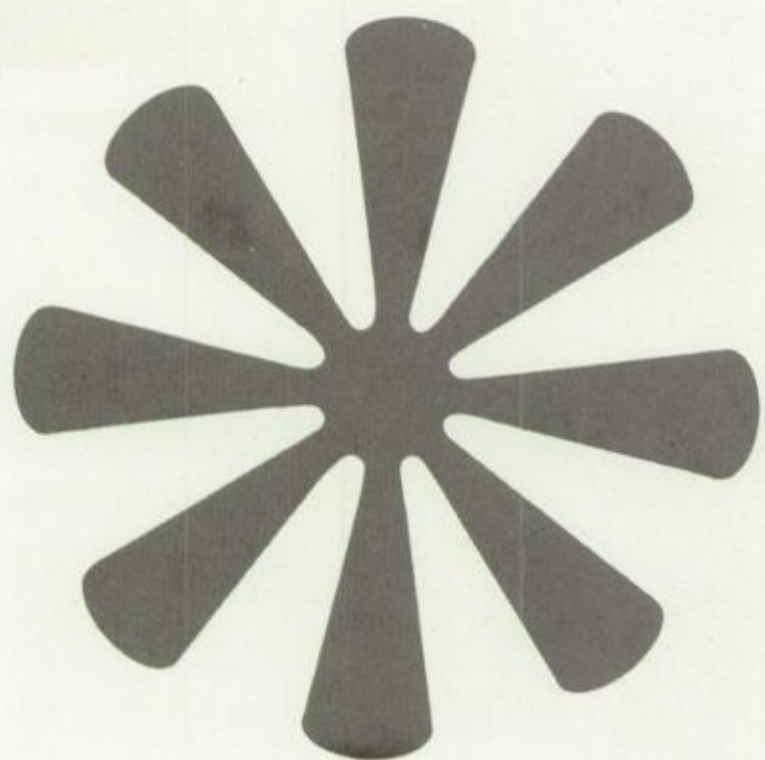

experience gained through intramurals

Senior Randy Canfield and junior Jerry Armstrong jump for a spike as Bob Shaw, senior, and Jan Jacob, junior, look on. At the end of the tournament the faculty, competing against the senior boys, won the volleyball championship.

Consistency marked the girls hockey team as they were defeated by South and Heights high schools at each game. Regardless of their record, the thirty girls participating gained experience and enjoyment throughout the season.

...we pause for Classes...

Junior class officers are Jane Shook, vice-president; Karen Gamble, secretary; Terry Freeland, treasurer; Janet Orr, sergeant-at-arms; and Vic Markey, president.

"'Tis here! . . . 'tis here! . . . 'tis gone." Thus the ghost of old Hamlet vanishes, just as the senior year of Southeast's class of 1969 will soon end. A senior year, though necessarily transient, nevertheless retains emotional and academic significance.

Customarily, the seniors assume the leadership of the student body, and this year was no exception. Seniors capably filled important offices such as student body president, and ran such influential organizations as the pep club, the student council, and youth board. Both the "Hoofbeats" and the "Stampede" were masterminded by seniors. Southeast's many fine athletic teams were paced by outstanding senior performances. Seniors also led the herd academically. Fourteen senior buffs were named National Merit Semifinalists, and many seniors took part in the college level courses offered at Southeast this year. Socially, the class of '69 crowned four senior queens, and throughout the year seniors participated in and dominated many of the school sponsored functions.

In thirty-six short weeks, the senior class of '69 has made its mark. As they move on to a new way of life, they will be confident, for they take with them more from Southeast than just memories. They take an education, not exclusively from books, but what is perhaps more important, from and about people.

FOREIGN STUDENTS — Agenor de Freitas Pedreira, Brazil; Waldo Castro, Chile; Patricia Castro, Chile; Myriam Gaete, Chile; Hans-Friedrich Kobel, Germany; and Hossein Koochek, Iran.

Within the student body at Southeast were several students from foreign countries who, either through student exchange programs or because their families have moved to the United States, are now attending Southeast High School. This year these students included Patricia and Waldo Castro from Chile, Hans-Friedrich Kobel from Germany, Hossein Koochek from Iran, Agenor de Freitas Pedreira from Brazil, and Myriam Gaete from Chile.

Hans, attending Southeast through the International Christian Youth Exchange program, commented, "As a European, I was very surprised about the technological equipment at Southeast such as the big new library, the overhead projectors in classrooms, and the computer scoring system." Agenor, staying with friends this year, noted that "in Brazil a student does not have the opportunity to select the subjects he wishes to take." Planning to stay in the United States for four years, Hossein has found that "Americans are very nice people; they are nice to foreigners."

juniors lead sophs but follow seniors

"What a piece of work is a man!" or a junior for that matter. Characteristically, a junior must be subordinate yet authoritative; he must be led and at the same time lead. Southeast's class of '70 has shown that it has that all-too-uncommon ability to fulfill this difficult role well.

The juniors began their two-fold task in the fall by sponsoring the Junior-Sophomore Tea and planning the Junior-Senior Prom. Throughout the year, they repeatedly demonstrated their spirit. In athletics they led the B-teams and made valuable contributions to the varsity teams. Some of the more academically inclined juniors helped make the student tutorial program a success. Socially they sparked activities ranging from after-game dances to the All School Project, from student government to "Ugly Man." Finally, with the symbolic acts of ring-turning and ushering at graduation, the class of '70 received its promotion and assumed its long-awaited position of leadership.

There are more things in heaven and earth . . . and Southeast High School . . . than were dreamt of by Horatio, let alone the new sophomores. Yet, it was not their confusion that will be most remembered, but their enthusiasm.

Led by their newly-elected officers and representatives, and the class sponsor, Mrs. Pauline Brown, the sophomores eagerly accepted their new academic and social responsibilities. Each one in his own way, whether on the football field, in the cheering sections, in musical groups, in clubs, at social functions, in student government, or just as students, made his contribution. Collectively the sophomore class participated in and helped make a success of Southeast's general activities such as "Ugly Man on Campus" and the All School Project. Finally, their efforts forced the standards of the upper classes high, perhaps their greatest achievement.

With the election of next year's Junior officers, the class of '71 took the final step in its preparation for upper class responsibility.

There is a tendency to give all the credit (or place all the blame, as the case may be) for a yearbook on its editor. But the individuals who work on the yearbook staff, doing tedious and often-times thankless jobs, are the ones to whom the credit should be given.

My sincere thanks and deep gratitude to every member of the yearbook staff for their loyal and conscientious help, with special thanks to special staff members . . . to Marjorie Laughlin, my assistant . . . to Susan Peters, who cross-multiplied every picture proportion because she refused to learn to use a proportion wheel . . . to Sharon Reed, for tolerating me and my demands . . . to Jan Agee and all the class editors, for doing their tedious but necessary job well . . . and to Kathy Dunkel and Robyn Minor, who did the drudgery of the index competently and without complaint.

. . . well, it's too windy to stack bricks, might as well work on the book . . . the photography staff: "Well, we can always fake it" . . . the business manager: "Now, if I give you a quarter, you give me a nickel and four pennies" . . . you meet a lot of interesting people while working on the yearbook staff — like the midnight-to-eight janitorial staff . . .
